Relics Of The Past Perish In Fire

Landmark Goes Up In Flames

By Will E. Thomas

A Pacifica landmark, Danmann's Hayloft, a rustic, old tavern bulging with relics of the Coastside's past, was virtually destroyed by fire Sunday.

Firemen battled the fire in the three-story, barn-red building for nearly four hours.

A former inn, built before the turn of the century as a stopover for passengers of the Ocean-shore Railroad which traversed the scenic coast between San Francisco and Davenport, was engulfed in crackling flames when firemen arrived soon after 11 a.m.

Fire Inspector James (Babe) Evans, who placed the loss "in excess of $50,000," said "once the fire got to burning, it burned like an old oven."

He added, "They're hard to get burning, those old buildings, but once they get going they usually burn down."

Fireman Joe Bonollo was treated at a nearby hospital for smoke inhalation, but returned to the scene later, and other cases of exhaustion were reported as the fighting extended into late afternoon.

The tavern, located on Danmann Avenue at Shoreside on San Pedro Point, contained valuable mementoes and priceless antiques, as well as owner Larry Ray's home.

The hayloft was a favorite stop of residents from all over the Bay Area, and Fire Chief Calvin Hinton saw several standing on Radio Point crying at the flaming sight.

"That's no exaggeration," he said.

Hinton and Captain Evans have not yet come to a conclusion on the cause. The historic, rustic structure was burned "too thoroughly to tell the cause immediately," Hinton advanced.

The roof collapsed, the floors are buckled and strewn with the debris of a mixture of new and old items, the walls are charred and punctured with holes.

Most of the antique furniture and glassware was destroyed; and that portion remaining was damaged to varying extent, firemen and other witnesses pointed out.

"It makes me sick," one antique-lover said, and Mayor Nick Gust called the fire loss "a shame."

Ironically, owner Ray opens the establishment on Sundays but last weekend he decided instead to go on a trip with friends.

Had he opened, one fireman surmised, total destruction might have been averted.

Ray reportedly is considering re-construction.

"He apparently feels he owes it to his friends and himself," Chief Hinton commented.

Citizens Rap 3 SSF Councilmen

'You Gentlemen Have Not Earned Public's Respect,' Resident Claims

By Bob Peterson

Agenda items proved but a front for South San Francisco residents who lashed out in anger Monday at three councilmen.

The attack was aimed primarily at majority voters Mayor Patrick Ahern and Councilmen Frank Bertucelli and Bill Borba.

Also included in some verbal assaults was City Attorney John Noonan. Known for bailing the councilmen out of tight spots with legalistic prose, Noonan's efforts were construed by some as not in the best interests of the resident.

It all started with the first major agenda item. The item was an appeal of a use permit denial of billboards by Foster and Kleiser.

The matter was subsequently approved 3-2. In the bargain, the city is to receive an estimated $14,000 in free yearly advertising copy.

But the thing that set the residents off was that Councilman Borba reneged on what the public considered an earlier vow that he was against billboards.

Borba explained, "I didn't mention billboards, I said all signs." Borba further explained that although he opposed and appealed signs of Park 'N Fly, the signs were constructed anyhow.

Borba then got into a brief exchange with Director of Planning Dan Pass, accusing Pass of allowing the construction of the signs over the council's authority.

Pass explained it was the law, not his doing that allowed the signs. The signs incidentally were appurtenant signs as opposed to requested billboards.

Borba's appeal at that time was made after the 10-day deadline of the city's ordinance. Regardless, he cited the fact of their construction as the reason for his change of mind.

Two city citizen organizations wrote letters opposing the boards. The school district and a church group wrote favorable letters thanking the company for free advertising.

Mario Gagliolo, personnel board member and majority vote appointee, came out in favor of the billboards. "Even if

Mayor Gust In Defense Of Pacifica

Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust has chided Assemblyman Carl Britschgi, Republican candidate for the State Senate, for remarks assertedly made last week before the San Mateo County Construction Industry Employers' Association.

Britschgi was quoted in a paper last Friday as claiming Pacifica to be "the world's worst job of poor planning. House piled on house . . . no concern for commercial development or anything else to support school districts."

Gust rapped Britschgi for "not having any concern for the people of Pacifica," adding, "It hurts me very much to see a person in public office like Assemblyman Britschgi use a city like Pacifica to criticize and condemn in public without having knowledge of what he is saying."

The mayor indicated there only was an effort for "personal gain" involved in the assemblyman's remarks.

"I've never heard of Assemblyman Britschgi visiting City Hall to review our general plan or to take time to tour our city in daylight, to see our city with its development; yes, he has visited our city, for a candidates' night, or possibly a dinner, shake a few hands and then run."

Gust claimed, "Pacifica has been nothing to Britschgi, except political, to get a few votes."

The mayor, whose community numbers 37,000 in population, attempted to refute the assemblyman's claims of "poor planning."

"Our city," Gust explained, "has been working very hard in planning, so that we won't have

D.C. Seeks Colma Land Annexation

In a surprise move Monday the City of Daly City revealed its plan for annexation of unincorporated Colma properties next to the Civic Center Building on Sullivan Avenue.

It was the second thrust into Colma territory within the past 12 months by Daly City.

A 65-acre parcel off Hoffman Street was annexed by Daly City for use as a mobile home park several months ago.

City Manager David Rowe informed the council at a study session Monday that his offices were ready to move forward on the matter and asked for council concurrence.

The council gave Rowe their informal nod. (No formal actions can be taken at a study session.)

For the past few months Mayor Bernard J. (Bud) Lycett has made it known he is unhappy with the inroads the Town of Colma has been making in the area's commercial market.

He likewise has made public statements to the effect he would soon take more positive action to either turn off Daly City services to these commercial ventures or annex them.

Rowe's proposal is the first move in that direction, some observers said.

Involved in the proposal are properties where the State Department of Motor Vehicles and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company buildings will soon be built.

Both agencies have informed the city they will take no stand either way regarding the annexation.

Assessed valuation of the properties included in the annexation is $100,500 the biggest part of which is owned by the Motor Vehicle Department and PT&T.

Rowe said annexation would be conducted in accordance with procedures for "unincorporated annexations" due to the fact that there are less than 12 registered voters in the area.

In othe words, if the majority of landlords support the annexation that City of Daly City will be larger by several acres.

The tax revenues generated by the two big utilities will also be welcomed by the city.

Under the new business license tax law, both the Motor Vehicle Dept. and PT&T will pay a portion of their gross receipts to the city.

First Sears Unit Opening Today At Tanforan Center

Sears, Roebuck & Co., will open the first unit of its complex at the new Tanforan Shopping Center in San Bruno today.

The Sears automotive Center there is opening its doors today three weeks before the opening of the main new Sears retail store.

A ribboncutting ceremony will be held at 4:30 p.m., at the automotive center.

Located adjacent to the retail facility on El Camino Real at the former site of Tanforan Race Track, the automotive center alone occupies more than 26,000 square feet for its 24-car capacity service area, automotive parts and accessories selling area and basement stock room storage space. In addition, there is a gasoline sales island with four pumps.

The overall Sears retail complex, including automotive center and seasonal sales area, has more than 275,000 square feet.

The automotive center, one of the larger ones being built by Sears on the West Coast, can be stocked with more than 6,500 tires without crowding. Motor oil is sold from four remote un-

Dentist Dies In Bruno Jail –No Clues

The cause of death of Dr. Edward Martinez, San Bruno dentist who died Sunday in San Bruno jail, remained undetermined today, according to Coroner Paul B. Jensen.

Jensen said further toxicological tests are needed and results may be known today.

Dr. Martinez, 42-year-old father of eight children, was found just before noon Sunday in the phone booth at an El Camino Real gas station in San Bruno. Police, who said he appeared to be intoxicated, took him to jail.

He was found apparently dead in the cell at 2:20 p.m. and was rushed to Peninsula Hospital, where he was dead on arrival.

Dr. Martinez is survived by his wife, Florence, and eight children: Michael, Diana, Moni-

S.S.F. Moves To Curb Dust Blanket In City

South San Francisco councilmen have taken some definite action to curb dust problems within the city.

Councilmen adopted a 7-point dust control proposal submitted by Acting City Manager Larry Ross.

Although not related directly to Ross' proposal, councilmen also were notified of a letter from the Avalon Concerned Taxpayers, a local ciic-minded group, concerning dust control.

The letter, issued by the group's president Ed Rickenbacher, stated their disapproval and demanded that city permits be enforced through threat of cease and desist orders.

"We will not tolerate these (dust problems) even if it means that we have to take legal action," said the letter in part.

The 7-point program submitted by Ross, which he says was a joint effort of many staff members, is as follows:

1. The city will continue to spray dust palliatives on city-owned open areas.

2. An engineer will be assigned to inspect the various areas where dust can originate. This will include weekend and holiday inspections. The inspector also will act as liaison between grader and developer.

3. This same engineer's liaison duties will include contact with the county, surrounding cities and the various firms involving construction projects.

4. The city will gather evidence, including but not restricted to taking pictures with a 16mm movie camera. These films will be held for submission to the courts should it become necessary. The city owns such a camera. It was purchased several years ago for police department work. Ross and an engineer will serve as photographers.

5. Graders and developers operating on city issued permits will not be able to move to a new project area until they first treat with palliatives the area they are leaving.

6. Violators within the city limits will be served with an order of suspension by the department of public works.

7. For dust problems originating outside city limits but affecting South San Francisco residents, diplomatic relations will be established with neighboring cities, the county and stage to enforce dust control.

Atop Mt. San Bruno

A Lovely View—Of Garbage

By Frank D. LaPierre

For miles around, the Bay Area spreads out from the vantage point at the end of Crocker Avenue atop as yet undeveloped Mt. San Bruno.

Less than ten feet away, stinking garbage spreads out at your feet in all directions in the same area.

The sight of the rotting mess of raw garbage, boxes and every imaginable refuse originating in the modern day household is enough to make a person gag—if not at the sight, at least by the smell of it.

Periodically the owners, Crocker Land Company, order the area cleaned up. But within hours after the mountain-top janitors leave, the public is back with another load of smelly whathaveyou.

A recent load contained the carcass of a cat, or what was once a cat.

Crocker Avenue was once the only roadway over the top of the North County mountain between Daly City and points east.

In recent years Crocker and San Mateo County entered a joint venture to build the multi-lane Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

From the scenic roadway a person can look up and watch the refuse tumble down the mountainside into the canyon.

The sun reflects off discarded beer cans and the putrid odor permeates the autumn air, killing even the occasional smell of eucalyptus.

Jim Huskey, of 429 beach Avenue, South San Francisco calls the scarring of the mountainside "a crime."

He has threatened to file suit against Crocker and, perhaps, Daly City, unless immediate steps are taken to clean up the area and keep it clean.

Although there are presently gate posts and a few weathered signs in the area warning folks trespassing isn't allowed, there

ROSS WINS BIG RAISE

South San Francisco's Acting City Manager Larry Ross Monday night was granted a whopping 75 per cent vote of confidence by councilmen.

The confidence comes in the form of a temporary salary boost, pro-rated at the former city manager's annual wage of $25,000. The adjustment holds until a new city manager is hired.

Ross had been promised a salary adjustment by the councilmen the night former City Manager Tom McKenzie was fired.

S.S.F. Council Row Over Signs, Manager

Mayor Ahern and Councilmen Bertucelli and Borba are friends of mine, or that I supported them, makes no difference," said Gagliolo. "I believe in being considerate and fair."

About this point, the roof caved in. Don Gamma, a constant council critic opened the first barrage.

"I'm tired of a group of city officials making out as though they don't know the difference between signs and billboards. Suddenly three of five, or four of six counting Noonan are in favor of the billboards. And why? Because they were nice to the church and the Boy Scouts. I'm disgusted to hear the majority of this council in favor of this particular one, not others." There was a long loud applause.

Ed Toby, unsuccessful council candidate, noted that "because of a fluke in the calendar (the reason Borba's appeal was late was because of a five Monday month) we will have three more billboards."

Resident Henry Rogers, facing the council earlier in a pleasant appeal to deny the billboards, made a return appearance in response to what he termed "smart alec remarks about opposition," from Borba.

"Remember, the opposition jammed your overpass down your throat," said Rogers. "I know you will do what you want to do anyway. But there may come a day you'll get booted out of that chair."

Mrs. Mary Ortner then stepped before the council. "You gentlemen have not earned the public's respect. You lost that overpass yourselves. People are fed up with this town and some of this nonsense that's been going on. They won't continue to put up with it.

"You have two letters from responsible organizations, yet you listen to Noonan give a ten minute dissertation on law, which I couldn't understand, and then vote against the people's wishes. You can't keep doing this," she warned, "You have got to change your attitude."

Noonan offered that public pressures are good, but should not supersede the law. "If you don't want signs, simply put it on the books you don't want signs," said Noonan. He told the councilmen they should vote against the billboards if they were detrimental, for them if not, and that it would be appropriate to study the matter further if they so desired.

This was a mere warmup of what was to come.

During the Good and Welfare section of the agenda, Gamma returned to face the councilmen. He said he represented himself, the West Park Homeowners, Citizens for Better Government and other concerned citizens.

Gamma wanted an explanation for the firing two weeks ago of former City Manager Tom McKenzie.

Ahern, speaking for the council, said Gamma should take the matter up with McKenzie, because the council had the obligation to say nothing. He said the firing was a personnel matter, not for the public.

Gamma continued to needle Ahern for answers, finally saying, "We are wondering who is going to be next? Is it Pass, the Chief of Police, the assistant city manager?"

Noonan interjected. "Gamma won't like this. But all you have to do is check the government code and the attorney general's opinion concerning personnel sessions.

"Gamma knows we can't say anything on this," said Noonan. He went on to say that Gamma's sole purpose in bringing the matter up was to "spread the idea through the crowd" that the majority vote represented something amiss.

"This is the purpose of his inquiry," said Noonan. "If he were attempting to undermine the council for some legitimate reason, okay."

Noonan then made a Freudian slip. He had asked Gamma to cite other personnel sessions. Gamma did, but did not mention any names. Noonan, however, in referring back to this particular incident mentioned the session concerned Pass.

"When you said Mr. Pass," began Noonan.

"I didn't say Pass," corrected Gamma.

Noonan then explained that "some in the audience" had written letters to local papers naming Pass. "How did you get a secret communication?"

Noonan asked Noonan, by this time visibly upset by Gamma's needling.

Pass appeared ready to get up and speak. He took a microphone, but as Gamma kept talking, Pass cooled down and said nothing.

As one final question to the council, Gamma asked, "When is South San Francisco going to have a city attorney. Noonan has acted as the attorney for members of the council for too many years."

Another arch-foe of the majority council, David Friedenberg, got up and cited several inconsistencies of that majority. He called it "use, abuse and misuse of civil servants."

Friedenberg implied violations of the Brown Act not only in McKenzie's firing, ubt in the majority council vote that led to the defeat of the overpass. He said the city's firemen were "being used as their (the council majority) political hatchet men."

He charged the city is having trouble filling vacated positions and said a fire department once dependent upon a police department for parity, now has outstripped the police department, who are "trying to catch up."

Lovely View—Garbage

is nothing to physically prevent a car from driving into the area—and dumping.

An occasional police car can be seen along the road, however, the main interest is not in capturing litterbugs who will be charged with a misdemeanor but rather in spotting suspicious cars and speeders on the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway far below.

Huskey wants no excuses on the reasons behind the practically unhindered dumping or in the difficulties encountered in keeping the public off the private roadway.

"I simply want it cleaned up—all of it," huskey said, and explains, "That could be a beautiful drive over San Bruno Mountain. But when you look up and see all that garbage scattered over the hillside it makes you sick.

Some of the people he has seen regarding this mess have either shrugged or confessed their hands were tied in dealing with the situation.

Daly City City manager David Rowe said the Crocker interests "hage always cooperated with us."

He said when the matter has been brought to their attention Crocker Land Company sends out a crew and cleans up "most of the garbage."

Back along the road from the "No dumping" area, smaller loads of refuse have been dumped as if to mark the trail leading to one of the city's water reservoirs overlooking the Vista Grande elementary school.

SCENIC WONDER — What could be the finest viewpoint in the entire Bay Area has been converted into an illegal dump by the public atop San Bruno Mountain.

What could be developed as one of the greatest viewpoints in the entire Bay Area has been developed into a garbage dump with apparently little being done to correct the situation.

There is a master plan for development of the 3,000 acre plus mountain.

The plan shows beautiful homes, modern apartments, a nine hole golf course and mini-parks.

It does not show a public garbage dump.

PERFORMING at the fifth annual San Bruno Aviation Appreciation Week banquet will be the "PSA Gallery," a quartet flying in from San Diego for the event, Friday, at the Hilton Inn.

Fund Transfer Approved In San Bruno

San Bruno councilmen okayed transfer of funds for payment of $20,000 in increased insurance costs.

The item was brought up at the September 14 council meeting but postponed until an explanation was given for the increase.

Palmer H. Evarts, secretary of the San Bruno Insurance Agents Association, supplied that explanation.

He said the city's premiums paid for general liability and property damange for the three year period 1967 to 1970 resulted in a 75.4 per cent loss radio.

This means that the insuring company was not being provided with a sufficient reserve for additional loss settlement, including a current suit filed for $2 million.

According to Evarts, this area of coverage accounts for an $18,066 increase, to attempt an adjustment toward a 60 per cent loss ratio, considered the maximum ceiling for a safe operation.

In addition, the city's premiums paid on fleet liability and property damage for the same period increased $1,680. It was primarily made up of a general state-wide rate increase granted by the state insurance commissioner, plus a few higher replacement values on new equipment purchased.

Adding the totals of $18,066 and $1,680 gives an actual representation of the insuror's adjustment at $19,746.

The city's insurance package on fire, bonds, burglary and special valuable papers coverages remains the same.

Pact Is Offered Over Garbage

Seven North County cities last week agreed to work together toward some solution of garbage disposal, even if San Mateo County is willing to drop the idea.

Burlingame Councilman R. David Martin made the proposal to the North County Council of Cities, meeting at the Airport Marina Hotel.

Martin noted that the county had recently dropped its proposed county-wide solid waste disposal project, for reported "lack of interest" among the cities.

He said the cities did not lack interest, but had disagreed with some of the details of the county's proposition.

Most distasteful to Burlingame, he said, was the county's insistence on running the show.

Now that the county has dropped out, he urged the seven North County cities to initiate a new plan.

"We're running out of time," he said.

Martin suggested forming a committee to set up a joint powers agreement among the seven cities, to take care of solid waste disposal. He said the agreement could be left open for other cities to join, and for the county to agree to, also.

North County Council Chairman James O'Connor of Millbrae reminded that Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust had just appointed a Council of Mayors committee to work on this problem, but accepted the motion.

Martin was named to chair the three-man committee finally appointed, with South San Francisco Councilman Warren Steinkamp, and Pacifica Councilman Harlan Minshew as members. The group is to work with the Council of Mayors group, and to probe the possibilities of incinerative disposal methods, as well as fill and cover.

South San Francisco Councilman Frank Mammini said he would not support the proposal if it was "only for the purpose of finding another hold to fill.

"The question is what do do with garbage when all the holes are filled?" he insisted.

South San Francisco Councilmen Frank Bertucelli and Warren Stienkamp both urged the group to move into incineration, but the committee ended being appointed to take on the entire problem of solid waste disposal, without any pre-decisions as to methods.

Millbrae City Administrator Richard Watson had keyed the action earlier, in reporting on the county's dropping of its own proposed plan.

"I think this is a regional problem, and must be solved in a regional manner," he said. "One of the four major pollutions problems we face today, is land pollution."

Pat Ahern of South San Francisco resented the county's implication that the cities didn't care, saying "a lot of cities participated, but some of them negatively. I guess the county takes that as a lack of interest."

Councilman McRobert Stewart of Daly City urged immediate action. "We'll never have a solution by talking about it here," he said.

Minshew suggested the committee's first task should be to plan a joint-use North County transfer station, where every city's refuse could be dumped before being hauled to a south-county disposal site.

Steinkamp, before being named to the committee, said all the cities should pressure their state and national legislators to help eliminate the problem at its source.

"Let's get rid of that bottle, that container that can never be absorbed into the earth. Let's make everything returnable, bottles and cans, and papers."

FIGONE NAMED

Alfred A. Figone of Daly City has been appointed by Governor Reagan to the newly-created Job Training and Development Board.

Bruno Cable Costs Are Gaining Fast

There seems to be some misunderstanding between San Bruno and Pacific Telephone as to estimates on pole preparation costs for the city's cable television system.

It was brought out at last week's council meeting that the cable pole arrangement costs exceed the budget by $30,000.

Indications were that the city had asked for a cost estimate from the phone company. A telephone company representative said there was no official estimate given.

The city budgeted $20,000 for pole arrangement, presumably to cover the entire project. And, as was reported at the council meeting, the city already has spent $11,000 over that figure for coverage of only half the project.

Based on these figures, it was estimated that total cost of installation would be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Jim Barrett, Pacific Telephone's cable expert, said that two years ago his firm was asked for a broad gauged estimate. He said that at that time the city was told there was no way this could be done without a detailed engineering study.

"We were pressured for an estimate on some 500 poles," said Barrett. "We gave that estimate and it probably was extrapolated to cover the entire area."

He said Pacific Telephone currently holds deposit from the city for just over $31,000 as a result of detailed engineering studies for all poles currently applied for—which supposedly is about half the project.

City Attorney Joseph Galligan said the city already has paid some $27,000 to the phone company. He added, "I think our credit is good with the phone company for $4,000," in response for a request for more money.

Discussion on this subject terminated when the councilmen set 7:30 p.m. Thursday as time and date for a meeting with everyone connected with the cable television project, including a telephone company representative.

Where You Buy Is As Important As What You Buy

(The following service is applied to every suit, topcoat, sport coat or wool slacks sold by us — whether men's or boys'.)

- All Alterations are without charge.
- The garment will be kept in good repair by us for as long as repairs can be made.
- Lining or pocket repairs, button or Zipper replacement—no matter how long ago the garment was purchased from us — bring it into the store for service. (Holes or tears requiring reweaving excepted.)
- Should your weight go up or down, and the garment no longer fits you properly, bring it into the store for re-alteration.
- THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NO CHARGE FOR ANY OF THESE SERVICES

The work will be willingly and expertly performed by our own tailors in our own shop on the premises. (State law requires, however, that your garment be dry cleaned before our tailors can work on it.)

(thousands of men have been using this service for more than twenty years.)

THIS IS WHY . . .

Fire Prevention Stressed In DC Exhibit

Serramonte Shopping Center will observe Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10, with a display of fire engines, both antique and modern, and the latest techniques of fire fighting including resusciann, snorkel, blow-up splints, photographic displays, turn-out clothing and first aid.

The Brisbane Fire Department will display medical supplies and first aid equipment, with hand-out materials on fire prevention, and the use of first aid. Campbell's Medical Aid Supplies will give demonstrations on bandaging and the art of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and will also have a drawing held at the booth for first aid kits. Winners need not be present to win.

On Sunday at 3 p.m., and October 10 at 3 p.m., there will be an outdoor demonstration of the latest techniques in fire fighting and rescue work in the East parking lot.

Participating fire departments in Fire Prevention Week at Serramonte Center are: Brisbane Fire Department, Daly City Fire Department, Colma Fire Department, Pacifica Fire Department, and San Francisco Fire Department.

Fire Spreads From Garage: $11,000 Loss

Fire spread from a garage bedroom into a second floor bedroom, out one window and in another, causing an estimated $11,000 damage to a Daly City home Thursday.

The occupants of the home, at 229 Woodrow Street, owner Richard Allen and his family, were not at home when the fire was discovered at 10:58 a.m.

Daly City Batalion Chief Mel Hansen said the fire started in a bedroom that had been built in the southeast corner of the Allen garage.

However, the cause of the blaze is not yet known, he said.

The fire went out the window of the garage of the typical" Daly City two-story home, lapped up against the outside wall, with flames entering a window, directly above to an upstairs bedroom.

Hansen said there was "considerable damage" to the downstairs bedroom and its furnishings. Upstairs drapes and curtains were damaged, but firemen were able to extinguish the flames before they spread.

Nonetheless, Hansen explained, there was smoke damage throughout the house.

Damage of $8,500 to the structure and $3,500 to the contents was estimated, he said.

New Aide To City Lawyer

San Bruno councilmen have okayed the hiring of Dermot J. Fitzerald as assistant city attorney, replacing Arlen Gregorio, who resigned to run for the state senate.

Fitzerald is an associate of Fitzgerald, Gregorio, Trasher, Banson and Joseph Galligan, with offices in Redwood City and Millbrae.

Galligan is San Bruno's part-time city attorney.

San Bruno's Road Projects Outlined

Division of Highways representatives have outlined freeway proposals and road construction projects contemplated for San Bruno through 1980.

The report was part of the second round of hearings by San Bruno's Environmental Control Study Committee, held last week.

Presentations were made by Jerry Drenan and Bill Zenoni. Zenoni also announced the establishment of an air and noise pollution unit of the State Division of Highways. It was to have become effective October 1.

Larry Dahns, director of the BARTD planning staff, presented the BARTD proposal to the committee and outlined prior rapid transit programs.

Also on the program was Vern Winslow, superintendent of operations for the Peninsula Greyhound Bus Lines. Winslow gave the structure of the Peninsula bus service, including what could be done in terms of additional routing and route changes.

The final report of the commission will be supplemented by information from the city's own department of public works in relation to transportation needs, said Councilman Ted Long, committee chairman.

The third in the series of hearings is scheduled for October 14. It is entitled "Bay Fills and Dirt Hauls."

Commission member Sylvia Gregory has scheduled speakers Robert E. Wallace with the U.S. Geographical Survey and George Gates, formerly of that organization.

Priscilla Jacobson, from "Save San Francisco Bay," and San Bruno resident Ellie Larsen, the local Sierra Club representative, also will speak. Mrs. Larsen will speak particularly on the Crystal Springs Creek project and the city's spur property.

According to Long, John Williams, an ecologist and environmental engineer from the College of San Mateo, will be supplying testimony as to the bay fills and earth moving effects on the San Bruno community.

All interested persons have been invited to attend the hearings at 7:30 p.m. in the San Bruno council chambers.

Jury Trial For Pinball

The jury trial of Joseph Sammut Jr., 53, and Joseph Sammut III, 28, both of San Bruno, on charges of illegal pinball operations has been postponed until 9:30 a.m., December 2.

The Sammuts were arrested May 1 in connection with alleged illegal pinball operations at Artichoke Joe's, 676 San Mateo Avenue. They are co-owners of the establishment.

Jury trials for four others arrested in the same crackdown by San Bruno police and the district attorney's office was recently postponed until 9:30 a.m., December 1.

Facing similar charges are Eric Carlyle, 71, of San Francisco; Helen Price, 52; Ted McHugh, 48, and Edward Segali, 51, all of Millbrae. They were arrested May 1 at The Dog House, 130 El Camino Real, San Bruno.

Color TV Set Taken In SSF

South San Francisco police report a weekend burglary at 564 Third Lane resulted in an estimated $1,155 loss to Juanita M. Camarillo.

According to police, thieves entered the residence by twisting off the front door knob. taken was a color television, a portable radio, an eight-day clock, a camera, $300 in jewelry and other miscellaneous items.

Drive-In Manager Is Robbed

The manager of South San Francisco's Spruce Drive-In movie was robbed by two masked gunmen yesterday morning.

Police said the loss was estimated at under $200.

According to reports, the manager was accosted by the men, who were wearing ski masks, at about 2 a.m.

At gunpoint the men forced the manager from his car to the drive-in office where he was told to get out the cash box.

The robbers tied the manager with an electrical cord and were last seen running toward Railroad Avenue.

Hearing On D.C. Utility Is Scheduled

A November public hearing will be held to determine whether the residents of Knowles and Los Banos Avenues in Daly City will approve or bury a utility undergrounding district.

Such a district, which will undoubtedly enhance the entire area by removing overhead utility lines and poles, may cost up to $175 per household.

The utility companies will pay for the street portion of the undergrounding, however connections from the main trunk lines into homes is paid for by the homeowner.

Many homeowners in the area, barely hanging onto their homes by the tips of their fingers because of taxes, may not be able to pay for the improvements, Mayor Bernard J. (Bud) Lycett said Monday.

In such cases liens are placed against the property and the money paid when the home is sold, it was pointed out during an informal meeting on the matter.

The four block Knowles-Los Banos area between the new BARTD station and Mission Street is scheduled for improvements over the next few months.

In some sections the roadway will be straightened and related improvements made.

Pacific Gas & Electric Company estimates it will take six-nine months for design of the undergrounding district and up to six months for actual construction.

The completion date will coincide with the target completion date for the rapid transit district.

D.C. Child Is Injured

An eight-year-old Daly City child collided with a car while riding her bicycle near her home about 6:30 p.m. Sept. 29.

Maureen McVeigh, of 36 Avalon Drive, was crossing the street at the corner of Avalon and Palasades Drive when she collided with a car driven by Charles Vanoncini of 235 Palasades.

Maureen was treated at nearby Mary's Help Hospital for abrasions, lacerations and bruises and sent home.

ca, Paul, Kevin, Andrea, Janet and Stephen, at the family home 390 Palomar Court, San Bruno; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martinez, Millbrae; a brother, Alipio, Colorado; three sisters, Mrs. Ida Thompson and Mrs. Josephine Cordova, Hayward, and Mrs. Mercedes Martinez of Colorado.

He was a native of Colorado, and a local resident seven years. He was a member of the California Dental Society, and the Third Order of St. Francis. His offices were at 116 Skycrest Center, San Bruno.

The rosary will be recited Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Chapel of the Highlands, Millbrae. Services begin at the Chapel Thursday at 9 a.m., with requiem mass at St. Robert's Church, San Bruno, at 9:30, and interment at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Schools To Compete For Sears Funds

Scenes will be the same in San Bruno and Cupertino, when South San Francisco High and Cupertino High compete for funds donated by Sears at the opening of their Automotive Departments on October 7, 8, 9, and 10.

Manning the gas pumps after school will be SSF seniors Dave Hanson, Hugo Loza, Carl Magaran and Paul Ynez hoping to pump more gas than their Cupertino competitors. Prize money will go to the SSF Warriors Fund or Cupertino Band Fund depending on the winners.

Majorettes, cheerleaders and pom-pon girls will end their support each day from 4 to 5:30 p.m. and will be joined on Saturday by the Pep Band between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Leaders of the girls Spirit Groups, Gerly Calloway, an Noya and DoretattaShimamoto ask the help of all residents tc boos the Wrriors.

Both schools funds will also receive monetary donations from Sears.

Open Space Walk Around

The persons who first moved to Serramonte can remember days when there were jackrabbits, frogs, many birds and an occasional deer in the area.

With the present rate of grading and construction, the wildlife is rapidly disappearing. Most of the open space area remaining will be built up soon.

An Open Space Committee was formed last March at a joint Serramonte Homeowner Association and P-TA meeting. The committee members believe that areas must be set aside for the preservation of native plant and animal life, officers said, and their objective is to act as a catalyst for involving the community in planning and developing open space for human use and enjoyment by developing mini-parks, ecology gardens, nature study areas, green belts, fossil trails and bike trails.

To point out the possibility of open space areas, the committee is planning a Walk Around Serramonte-Terra Loma on Saturday, October 10 at 10 a.m. Groups of about 10 persons will leave from the monument at Skyline Boulevard and King Avenue. Hikers are asked to take a bag lunch. Boy Scouts will act as guides along a marked trail highlighting some of the remaining natural life, potential park sites, the rock and dirt lots where children now play, and the gardens of some residents.

derground tanks with storage capacity of 1,500 gallons.

Gasoline is pumped from two 12,000 gallon storage tanks while two 5,000 tanks have been installed for the new unleaded product when it becomes available.

Holding space is available for as many as 1,000 batteries on "first-in-first-out" racks, replenished weekly.

Sears has long time experience in the sale of tires, batteries, oil, and automotive accessories, and has accumulated considerable experience in automotive service. For years, Sears has sold and installed remanufactured automobile engines with all new movable parts, and now Sears is equipped to do tune-up work.

"If you are torn between having the family car repaired and doing some much needed shopping, don't despair. In most cases, you can do both — at the same time — at the new Tanforan mall when opened later this month," said William Walsh, manager of the new Sears complex.

2 Hurt In Accidents

Two separate accidents occurring in San Bruno Sept. 28 left two persons in Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame.

Eric B. Williams, 15, of 1209 Sleepy Hollow, Millbrae, is in satisfactory condition with a fractured left knee and pelvis.

Sharon Morrison, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrison, of 740 Masson Avenue, San Bruno, is in good condition with a fracture of her left leg.

According to police, Williams was injured when he was knocked down by the passenger seat of a motorcycle on El Camino Real near Forest Avenue.

Mayor Gust In Defense Of Pacifica

house piled upon house as they have on the other side of the hill, and, also, in Britschgi's district."

He added, "We have a good 'open space' program and a park dedication ordinance in effect and a joint agreement with our school districts for creating and maintaining our schoolgrounds for park use."

Gust said the city's industrial expansion is contingent upon the completion of freeways, including Freeway 280, the proposed airport-to-the-sea roadway.

He suggested, "If Assemblyman Britschgi has so much concern for Pacifica . . . he might be able to do something to speed up the completion of Freeway 380. As yet, I haven't heard of him pushing for this completion."

Gust said he didn't really believe Britschgi "has a concern for our freeway system at all."

He said that Britschgi "blames the city for not having any concern for commercial development to support our school districts," but wondered, "How can one in politics make a statement like that? We are all concerned about our school district and its taxes."

Over $7 of "our taxes go toward schools, the highest in the county" he said.

"What is Britschgi and Sacramento doing about this?" Gust queried, maintaining, "We did not create school districts, but our city is on record as supporting all legislation that would help equalize revenue-sharing, that would take the burden off the local taxpayer."

Search Is On For Police Chief

Pacifica City Manager James Swayne announced he would start immediately advertising statewide in an attempt to fill the position at the same time Police Chief Neil Tremaine officially leaves.

Pacifica's seven sergeants and three captains also are eligible to compete for the chief's job, salary for which ranges from $14,724 to $17,928 annually.

Tremaine submitted his resignation to Swayne after yesterday's work day. It was brief and gave no reason.

"I think police chiefs come and go," Tremaine said today, reluctant to elaborate either on his reasons or his plans.

"There comes a time to go," he said, "and that time has come."

Pressed further, he explained, "My useful career here has ended. The job's been good while it lasted."

But, he does like the Coastside.

"I hope to stay here," he commented.

Tremaine entered law enforcement with the Santa Clara Police Department, later joining the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a special agent.

In his three years with the FBI, he was assigned to Washington, D.C., Boston and Milwaukee.

He went to Tracy in the San Joaquin Valley after the FBI was approached to assist in cleaning up what was described as a wide-open town at that time.

After five years there, Tremaine came to freshly incorporated Pacifica in 1959.

Bruno Woman Is Arrested

Jeri Ann Lazzari, 27, 900 San Antonio Avenue, San Bruno, was arrested in Burlingame Sunday on charges of attempting to pass a phony drug prescription and possessing a concealed weapon.

Burlingame police said pharmacist Frank Hamer called them to the Miller Drugstore at 4:15 p.m., and said a prescription the woman had offered was inscribed with false names.

A loaded .32 calibre automatic pistol, wrapped in a black scarf, was found in her handbag.

Curious S.S.F. Youth Causes Airport Stir

A South San Francisco high school student got a lesson Thursday in how uptight airport people are about anything even remotely connected with the subject o hijacking.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Messier reported that he was approached at International Airport by two United Air Lines pilots and a ramp serviceman, Gene J. Di Domenico, who told him about a young man who seemed unusually interested in the subject. Di Domenico said the youth had come up to him and asked:

"Do you know how to hijack an airplane?"

The startled Di Domenico asked him to repeat it.

"Do you know the proper procedures for hijacking an airplane?" the youth asked.

"You could go to jail for talking like that," the informant said he told the boy.

A search was made and the youth, Joseph Hummell, 16, of 210 Indio Drive, was found standing with a friend on the observation deck .He insisted that he had not meant his question to be taken the way it was.

State Meets On Highways

A meeting with San Brunans and representatives of the state division of highways Wednesday morning concerning tree planting proved fruitful.

The city is to investigate the types of trees it desires to have planted on either side of El Camino Real, plus utility problems and safety factors involved.

One main problem is the fact that most of the city's utilities along El Camino Real are underground. A suggested solution was to use planter boxes.

Power Lines Underground Before The Holiday Rush

The conversion of overhead electric lines to underground will be completed before this holiday season's traffic rush, in the vicinity of East Market, San Pedro and Mission Streets in Daly City.

Donald Halverson, Pacific Gas and Electric Company manager in the Daly City area, provided the progress report following an inspection tour by city officials.

The undergrounding by PG&E, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Vista Grande Cablevision Company, is the initial construction phase of the street widening project in that area.

Participants in the project include the utility companies, property owners along the streets involved, Daly City, San Mateo County and the State.

Contracts will be let and the street improvement project will start early next year, according to officials.

The project's planning, which started in 1967, is designed to minimize traffic inconvenience for motorists, pedestrians and merchants.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $1.5 million. This includes $145,000 for PG&E's portion, Halverson said.

DC Youth Tries Escape From SM Facility On Bike

A 17-year-old boy who scaled a fence at the Hillcrest Juvenile Hall on Friday morning touched off a chase in which he "commandereed" a bicycle, dropped it, leaped over three fences, and outdistanced four deputy sheriffs and a group of construction workers. He was finally found in the corner of a Parrott Drive garage.

Deputy Gary P. Actor reported Lamont Miller, of 25 Tallwood Drive, Daly City, who is scheduled to appear in juvenile court next week on a burglary charge, was seen scaling a hill on the east side of Polehemus Road after scrambling over a fence at the detention facility.

Actor said he saw Miller "jogging down" Kings Lane, but when Actor ran after him the boy ran through a rear yard at 2011 Kings Lane, jumped one fence and scrambled over a second. Actor was about to catch the boy, he said, when a dog bit him in the heel of his deputy's boots.

Miller ran through a yard at the end of Queens Lane and grabbed a bicycle, taking off, almost crashing headon into a patrol car driven by Deputy Gene R. Masini, who had just arrived at the intersection of Timberlane Drive an Queens Lane. The boy rode to a construction area, where he left the bicycle and ran down ahill.

Masini and Donald Drown, 38, a construction worker, chased after Miller, but the boy quickly outdistanced both. Masini saw him run into a garage at 1956 Parrott Drive. He questioned the occupant, Brenda Comerford, who said she had heard nothing. Masini opened the door and found the boy crouched in a corner. Miller said he was in a hobby shop area of Hillcrest when he became "homesick" to see his mother and girl friend.

Pacifica Mayor Can't Do It, But A Custodian Does

By WILL THOMAS

A high school custodian did what Pacifica's mayor hasn't been able to do most of the time — wrap up a city council meeting before midnight.

The council is meeting at Oceana High School nowadays, since its City Hall chambers were converted to office space.

When the city made arrangements with the Jefferson Union High School District to use a classroom for its meetings, there was a stipulation that the councilmen and councilwoman should strive to complete their sessions by 11 p.m.

That was to avoid overtime payment to custodial workers, who must stay at the facility until all persons go home. Unless the city wanted to pay the overtime, everyone thought.

Well, it was just too much to expect that Pacifica's council could ever wind up a meeting by 11 p.m. Mayor Nick Gust has attempted to achieve early adjournments in the past, and failed.

In fact, if it had not been for a custodian at Oceana the council probably wouldn't have left the building until midnight, or after. But, that's routine.

The appointed hour came last week, and the lengthy agenda remain unfinished. The council figured, well, as long as it paid the overtime . . . on with the show. For a short while, it went on, until the custodian announced he was departing at 11:30. They could stay: just lock up after themselves.

Coins, Guns Are Stolen

Two burglaries Sunday in San Bruno netted thieves more than $2,000 in cash and property.

Police said William O. Dahl, 3071 Medina Drive, reported the theft of $18 in coin and a diamond ring valued at $1,800.

Entry to Dahl's residence was gained through the bathroom window.

Eugene R. Pesce told police someone entered his home and escaped with two .22 caliber pistols, 100 rounds of ammunition and 50 cents in coin. Value of the loss was $250.

Police said entry to the home was gained by prying open a glass door.

Daly City Schools Set Pace For State

By WILL THOMAS

Daly City's two school districts are the northern California leaders in the development of professional memorandums of agreement covering once-scattered policies and featuring for the first time teacher involvement and responsibilities.

Although such agreements are not unheard of, they continue to be rare—few others exist in California; they're all in the southern part of the state: Santa Maria, Los Angeles, San Diego.

Acknowledged as the forerunner, and the one considered by both administrators and teachers most likely to be copied in other districts, nationwide, is the Jefferson High School District's agreement. It was ratified during the first week of the new school term after the conclusion of negotiations that started well before classes let out of the summer break.

The Jeff High agreement was not the first. The Jefferson Elementary School District's teachers' organization — the Jefferson Class room Teachers Association (JCTA) — obtained their's a week previous.

But, it took a strike to gain it.

Many aspects of each district's agreement are similar. But, t here are notable exceptions in each.

One of the first priorities the high school teachers spelled out was teacher responsibility. A long section was included in the professional agreement. The elementary school district's teachers left it undone, providing for a mandatory study and development by next year.

Binding arbitration was won by the elementary teachers; it was not included in the high school's final document, but it might come in future years, one teacher leader has indicated.

The JCTA won its pact from the Board of Trustees under stressful conditions—its members had struck a week before school opened, vowing to remain away from classes under the so-called master agreement was enacted.

Some observers are not astonished that the Jefferson High School District, particularly, has been the education's guiding light in this part of the state in the agreement matter.

The agreement was born without majestic fanfare, without a strike, but with solidarity of opinion as to its worth and impact on the profession, not unlike the effort that has led previously to some of the finest teacher salary-benefit provisions in the state.

The American Federation of Teachers, Local 1481, the unit that struck the high school district two years ago, suffering image problems as a result, first proposed a master contract.

It was buried and before it could be resurrected, the Jefferson Union High School District Teachers' Association (JUHSDTA) initiated one similar in almost every respect, according to AFT President Albert Evenich of Serramonte High School.

Evenich, praising the final high school document, said his organization approved the document without dissent.

It didn't make any difference to him who authored the provisions, so long as an encompassing paper was developed, he declared.

Evenich and the new JUHSDTA president, Miss Mary Ann Holden of Westmoor High, started late last school term putting a joint package together for presentation via the Negotiating Council to the trustees.

Item by item they came up before the board. Existing policies were up dated; irrelevant "garbage" deleted, the items generally "cleaned up."

Half a dozen handbooks and other documents spelling out policies have been boiled down to a single agreement.

"The Jefferson High School District has stepped quietly, but forcefully into the future," Miss Holden pointed out.

Areas such as grievances, transfers, department head elections, curriculum development, academic freedom and specific classroom responsibilities are spelled out, she emphasized.

"This agreement," she said, "is an important milestone for education in this district, for it establishes in a comprehensive document the orderly process whereby the trustees, administration and teachers, working together, can continue to improve the education of our young people.

Miss Holden said over 90 per cent of the district's teachers approved the document.

Among them was 30-year-teaching veteran D. W. Moseley, of Westmoor who described the agreement as the "best thing to come" in years.

(Moseley also remembered when Board Chairman Al Teglia and Asst. Supt. Floyd Gonella were Jefferson students of his.)

District Superintendent Edward Morgan explained that trustees last April conducted the first of 14 meetings — some 30 hours worth — on the substance of the ultimate agreement.

In addition to the time spent by Miss Holden and Evenich, the Negotiating Council held 16 sessions of its own, chalking up 41 hours on the way.

There was heavy correspondence with the district attorney's office, and proposals and counter-proposals from each side of the fence.

Morgan already had informed his staff that, if ratified, the document "could become the educational springboard that will lead our district to a new and stimulating educational program."

He later added, "This can truly be one of the milestones in California education from the standpoint of agreements," Morgan said, acknowledging, "A year from now we may be knocking each other's brains out, but this is part of the game."

He envisions the new document as one "that we certainly can use to improve education in this district."

It is an indication, Morgan believes, that staff and administration can work together within the framework of the Wintor Act to "improve the educational offering."

Damien House Wins S.S.F. Bid

In an approving mood, South San Francisco planners earlier this week gave the affirmative nod to a use permit request to establish a drop-in center at 983 Linden Avenue.

Known as Damien House, the center is to serve as a sanctuary for youths desiring to discuss problems of any magnitude, free from the school or home-related environment.

Commissioners set 20c onditions on the approval. The were told the center building exterior would be renovated and that the interior would be refurbished and brought up to health, safety and fire code standards.

In other action, commissioners approved a use permit for McDonald's Hamburgers, 435 El Camino Real, to redevelop an existing drive-in at 435 El Camino Real.

They also approved a use permit request of Louis R. Liberati to establish a dwelling group at 310 Orange Avenue.

In a third approval, commissioners okayed a tentative map of Cabot, Cabot and Forbes Industrial Park Number 3 to subdivide approximately 79 acres on Radio Hill, Point San Bruno, into 12 lots and six land parcels.

DOLLARS FOR SCHOLARS
Each year GEMCO gives THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS in scholarships and awards to deserving students...
Your GEMCO $1 Lifetime Family Membership Fee is actually a contribution toward some young person's college education as well as a contribution to many worthwhile local charities. A substantial portion of each membership fee is allocated to the GEMCO charitable and Scholarship Foundation. Since 1959, over $208,800.00 has been awarded in scholarships and charities. The foundation, chartered as a non-profit corporation, will be administered by a board of directors comprised of prominent local civic leaders, who are GEMCO members. These people dedicate a portion of their busy schedule, without pay, to administer the distribution of the GEMCO Foundation Funds. When you join GEMCO you are helping others as well as yourself.

A Family Life Movie

"How Life Begins," the family life education film that is scheduled to be shown to the fifth and sixth grade students at Holy Angels Church later this term, will be previewed tonight by the parents of the parish at a meeting being sponsored by the Holy Angels Women's Guild.

Mrs. John Lagomarsino, publicity chairman for the guild, reports that all interested persons are invited to attend the 8 p.m. gathering in the parish hall, see the film and take part in the discussion session which will follow.

Mrs. John Provenzale, program chairman and vice president of the guild, has arranged for the screening and for the appearance of Mrs. Carolyn Litty, public health nurse, who will conduct the discussion and question and answer period at the conclusion of the film.

Everyone will be invited to stay for the social which follows, Mrs. Lagomarsino stressed.

Mrs. Gerald Delfino, guild president will chair the regular business portion of the evening.

Louanne Heath's Datebook

MR. AND MRS. HARRY IVERSON will be the host and hostess for Tuesday day time meeting of the Fifty Plus Club in Pacifica.

The meeting will be held in the Pacifica Library at Hilton and Palmetto Avenue. Formal commencement of the gathering will be at 10 a.m. Guests are always welcome and any localite in the 50-plus bracket is invited to consider membership in this seniors organization, according to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president.

The big event for club members will be the Veteran's Benefit luncheon program to be held on October 18 in the Pacific Manor School at 12:15 o'clock. Tickets for the luncheon are being sold for $1.75 for adults and $1 for children. In addition to luncheon, guests will get a generous helping of musical entertainment with an international flavor.

Steve Holness will provide piano accompaniment for a portion of the afternoon and Ruberta Pearce will accompany Clinton Steele, the director of the Pacifica Choraliers. A specialty number with Ron and David Marshall on the banjo and Russel Bain on the piano, and a solo by Rung E. Haselgren, club music chairman, are planned.

The international accent will be provided by Gerald Wilmot who will sing the music of Scotland.

The object of the benefit will be to raise money for the World War I veterans Christmas party and Mrs. Calhan reports that it will take a goodly turn out to assure that there will be enough money in the club coffers to finance the undertaking. If you are not a member of the Fifty Plus Club but would enjoy attending the luncheon please contact Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg to make reservations.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD PRESSLEY welcomed a second daughter, Jennifer Anne, on September 23.

Jennifer, whose sister Vanessa is a year old, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Mangini and Mr. and Mrs. William Pressley, all of Daly City. Great grandparents are localites Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Del Carlo.

All the family was on hand to welcome the 8 pound 5 ounce baby home with the exception of her great aunt, Lt. Colonel Mary Ann Del Carlo who is wrapping up her one year assignment as chief nurse of the 17th field hospital in Vietnam and will be returning to Daly City in mid-October. Her next assignment will be to get acquainted with the newest member of the family and to assume duties at Letterman General Hospital.

LOCALITES WHO CONTRIBUTE to the Coronary Care Unit at Mary's Help Hospital will be invited to attend a Cocktail party being given by the members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild on October 30, according to Mrs. Kathryn Glebow, guild president.

Mrs. Joseph Schott will chair the party and she has announced that someone will be awarded a 1971 Cadillac during the afternoon's activities.

Camp Fire Girls Slate Activities

The Daly City Camp Fire Girls Leaders Association will hold their first fall meeting October 14 at 10 a.m. at the Westmoor Park clubhouse, 123 Edgemont Drive.

According to Mrs. Charles Stuhr, president of the leaders' association, a calendar of district events for the school year will be presented to the leaders.

Mrs. Stuhr has said that all Camp Fire groups in Daly City should send their leader or a representative from their group to the meeting as information on two October district events will be given out.

These two events are the Needlework Guild Tea and workshop where Camp Fire Girls bring items they have sewn or knitted. The items are then presented in Camp Fire's name to the Needlework Guild of America who distributes them to underprivileged families and hospitals. The tea will be held October 17 from 1 to 3 p.m., at the Sharp Park Library.

The other scheduled October event will be a beach party for all Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls on Saturday, October 24.

Suggested service projects for the girls will also be discussed.

Serramonte Association Sets Meeting

The Serramonte High School Association will meet October 14, at 8 p.m. in the little theater area. Ronald J. Miguel, president, will preside.

An executive meeting will be held at 7 p.m. open to the public.

Serramonte parents, in particular, are encouraged to attend, so that any situation arising might have a direct line of communication not only to the administration, but to the parents, students and faculty as well, a spokesman explained.

Plans are now in motion for the membership drive, with committee chairman, Mrs. Rush Manbert, making preparations — with the assistance of Mrs. Arthur DeAlba, newsletter co-ordinator.

A tentative date of October 28 has been set aside as a "Candidates Night," for those candidates for the Jefferson Union High School District board vacancy.

Carnival Set At DC School

The Olympia-Rivera P-TA will hold a carnival at Fernando Rivera School on October 16.

Activities will begin at 5 p.m. and parents and children will have until 9 p.m. to win various prizes.

A Teddy bear toss booth, jewelry engraving booth and a bottle toss booth, a lollypop tree, a duck pond and other games are planned.

Tickets for the games, at 10 cents each, will be sold at the carnival.

SWIVEL ROCKERS THAT MAKE A ROOM HOSPITABLE
Yes, our selections of chairs and swivel rockers can make all the difference between a stiff, aloof, sort of forbidding room and a room that in effect holds out its arms to enfold you. We believe that our great array of chairs will appeal to a great variety of tastes and needs. Nothing is forgotten for your decor, your comfort and your budget. These chairs have the elegance for the most special setting, yet they hide the secret of the swivel mechanism. They are also available as stationary chairs, rockers only or as swivel chairs only. You'll relax in total comfort for you'll be surrounded by fabulous foam! Quality construction, for sure! The hardwood frame is corner blocked and glued for maximum strength. The seats are completely reversible for twice the wear and zippered back for easy cleaning. The skirts, your choice of the straight kick pleat or box pleat, is lined for that well tailored look. You may select from our range of exciting, fresh fabrics in velvets, tweeds, prints, damask and many others, all in colors that will spark your home with new cheer! Browse among our chairs and swivel rockers. Try many of them. See how they satisfy. When you get into precisely the right one, you could purrr-r. To be sure, this is a matter of care and determination on our part. We always buy VALUE for you, but in chairs we reject at least 1000 for every single number we select. Maybe that's why we are chair headquarters for the particular! Test this truth for yourself today. Aren't you due a dividend of beauty?

Student Leaders Active In Westmoor P-TA Work

The Executive Board of the Westmoor High School P-TA met last week under the guidance of President Mrs. Eldon MacRunnels and welcomed four students who will be representing the student body of the school on a regular basis at the Executive meetings.

Setting the history making precedent for student representation were senior president Marlene Cannova, junior president Sheryl Rile, sophomore president Tony Giammona, and freshman vice-president Karen Fong.

Business that was discussed included the Treasurer's report that $300 was given in June to Westmoor in the way of student welfare, grants, and to the Richard Hart Fund.

The new budget was accepted and note made that the annual membership drive will be kicked off in a letter sent to all Westmoor parents during the coming week. Funds collected through this drive are badly needed to further the work of the P-TA at Westmoor.

Other business included discussion of the forthcoming "Flea Market" which will be jointly sponsored by the student body and the P-TA. The community is asked to put aside any donations that could be used for this ooperative effort to raise money for the school.

There are to be three unit meetings during the coming year where all members will welcomed, and the first one will be December 3.

Back-to-school night will be November 5 and memberships who were present include Mrs. J. Schatt, vice president; Mrs. Monte Hill, recording secretary; Mrs. George Thompson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Lee, treasurer; Mrs. R. Schnapp, hospitality; Mrs. E. Ungaretti, co-chairman with Mrs. Robert Hansen for midterm garduation; Mrs. G. Plichcik, co-chairman with Mrs. Robert Woodworth for membership; Mrs. William O'Neil, school services; Mrs. Emma Bogatin, honorary life co-chairman; Mrs. Margeret Riggs, Westmoor vice principal and program chairman; Clayton Kollman, Westmoor principal; and Mrs. Hal Fox, publicity chairman.

Hallowe'en Party By Lioness Club

An old-fashioned Halloween Costume Party, sponsored by the Lioness Club of Daly City-Colma, will be held October 8, at 7:30 p.m., Gladys Neville, president of the organization, announced.

The colorful affair will be held at the home of Mrs. William J. Scanlon, 405 Lakeshire Drive, Daly City, Mrs. Neville said.

The Lioness Club, composed of wives of Daly City Lions Club members, has invited their spouses to the party and half the Lions Club membership will attend.

Following a roast beef dinner, variety of traditional halloween games will be played including ducking for apples, a pie-eating contest and other fun activities.

Highlight of the evening will be a contest to determine which Lion or Lioness originated the best Halloween costume—and models it most originally.

Hostesses are Mrs. Ray Logan, Mrs. Ira Neville, and Mrs. William J. Scanlon.

Teen Club Established In San Bruno

The San Bruno Recreation Department announced the start of the Junior Teen Club.

The club will be made up of, and belong to the people of San Bruno between the grades of sixth and eighth. The club will be on Friday evenings at the Recreation Center from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

Membership cards will be sold to those wishing to join the club. Depending upon what interests the members of the club; weekly programs of various activities will be set up. In these programs, which will be announced in a schedule, will be athletics, dances, arts and crafts, movies, games and whatever else in wanted.

Since this club is for the young people of San Bruno, the department hopes the group will elect officers who would work closely with the advisors.

"It will be your club; so we want to do what will interest you the most and it will be your job to make known your interests for the activities," a department spokesman said.

THE JOHN HORNS (Claudia Calonge)

Miss Calonge Wed In San Francisco

The marriage of Claudia Cynthia Calonge of South San Francisco and John Frederick Horn of Santa Rosa recently took place at Notre Dame des Victoires Church in San Francisco.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Calonge and the benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Horn.

Claudia recited her vows in a candlelight peau de soie chapel sweep skirt with reembroidered lace bodice, long sleeves and fresh flower headpiece with long candlelight veil.

Lilac Shantung gowns were worn by maid of honor Kimberley Greathouse, the bride's cousin, and bridesmaids Rozanne Signorello of South San Francisco, and Jill Seke of San Francisco, and Kathleen Dowd of Modesto, both cousins of the bride.

Monique Calonge, the bride's sister, served as junior bridesmaid and she wore a gown of white nylon eyelet over lilac.

Bill Peiper of San Rafael was best man and ushers were John Allen of Red Bluff, Jim Calonge of South San Francisco., brother of the bride, David Bartlett of Davis, John Lamb of Los Angeles and Michel Duport of San Francisco, cousin of the bride.

The couple honeymooned in Yosemite and Twaine Harte before establishing a residence in Chico where they are doing graduate work at Chico State College. Claudia and John also studied at the University of California at Davis. Prior to earning their bachelor degrees at UC, the bride studied at South San Francisco High School and the benedict was educated at Petaluma High School.

California Mission Tour Taken By Newlywed Duo

Visiting the California Missions on their honeymoon were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Keith Henson who recited promises Saturday at 2 o'clock at St. Bruno's Church.

The former Carol Bricker, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bricker of San Bruno and Michael's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Al Alea, also of San Bruno.

When Carol approached the altar with her father, she was wearing a white organza Empire gown fashioned with a scoop neckline trimmed in scalloped lace and daisies. Appliques of daisies also dotted her long sleeves and flowing train.

A petal like lace headpiece sprinkled with pearls secured her elbow length illusion veil. The bride carried a Flemish bouquet of variegated carnations, roses and daisies interspersed with caladium leaves.

Deborah Amunson served the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaid duties were shared by Darlene Walleen of Los Angeles, sister of the bride, Dona Fitzsimmons of Palm Springs and Vicky Olsen of San Bruno, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants were gowned alike in red velvet Empire gowns styled with white appliques on the neckline and long sleeves. Their elbow length veils were made of red netting and shaped like a bow.

Roses and daisies in blue, maroon and pink hues comprised the bouquets which each of the girls carried.

Best man for the benedict was Reggie Dean Brown and guests were seated by Ronnie Henson, Paul Westlund, and Jim Woodmansee.

Mrs. Bricker witnessed her daughter's wedding in a powder blue Shantung ensemble trimmed in maribou with matching blue accessories. A peacock blue costume was worn by Mrs. Alea. White orchid corsages were attached to each mother's outfit.

Variegated flower centerpieces were arranged at each table and leather fern were placed around the wedding cake at the reception at the Elks Lodge in South San Francisco. Guests included Mrs. R. R. Cory of Portland, Ore., grandmother of the bride, and Sisters Fabiola and Brigette Marie of St. Joseph's Hospital in San Francisco.

The new matron, who attended Capuchino High School, is now studying at the College of San Mateo night school. Her brother is John H. Bricker of San Bruno.

Also attending night school at CSM, the bridegroom is a member of the San Bruno Police Reserve. An alumnus Capuchino High School, Michael is the brother of Karen Trapp, and Dennis Henson.

New England Honeymoon For Couple

Touring the New England states on their honeymoon were Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Muller (Kristine Anne Hansen) who were wed at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church. A reception followed at the Hunters Point Officers Club.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Hansen of Daly City and Robert's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Muller of Santa Barbara.

Kristine recited her vows in an Empire gown of Chantilly lace. She studied at Mercy High School and the University of California at Riverside.

Kathryn Hansen was her sister's maid of honor and Karen Hansen, another sister, shared bridesmaid duties with Kathleen Barnes of Riverside and Barbara Zengel of Apple Valley. Their gowns were styled with white old fashioned blouses and long yellow mauve skirts.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT MULLER

Larry Schwartz of Beverly Hills served as best man and guests were seated by Steven Jesson of San Fernando Valley, cousin of the benedict, Greg Sanford of Riverside, Ron Altman of Oakland, and Henri Michon of Redwood City. The bride's brother, Matthew Hansen, was ring bearer.

The benedict was educated at Midland Prep School in Santa Barbara and UC at Riverside. At present he is in graduate studies at Yale in New Haven, Conn. where he and his bride are making their first home.

Girl Scouts Play Hostess East African

Daly City Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 24 recently was an International Hostess.

Dahlait (Dolly) Allibhai, a 24-year-old Brownie leader from Tanzania, East Africa, stopped in the SF Bay Area for two days. She had participated in an International Leader Training Event at the Edith Macy Center in New York and was going on to another International Event in Canada.

The Manbert family welcomed Dolly into their home. Mrs. Manbert is one of Troop No. 24's Advisors.

Mrs. George Hidzick and her twin daughters, Jane and Joan, spent the first day with Dolly in Sausalito.

Also they visited the SF Day Camp, where she taught a game and a song. The stopped to photograph Dolly with her feet in the Pacific Ocean to add to her similar photos by the Atlantic and Indian Oceans.

Mrs. Manbert and her children, Carolyn, Rush and Robert guided their guest on an evening tour of San Francisco.

Linda Barnes and Lorna Campbell, Troop No. 24 members, filled Dolly's second day with a Gray Line Tour, lunch at Fisherman's Wharf, cable car and street car rides.

The evening was spent at the Manbert's with an impromtu troop gathering.

Senior Scouts attending were Julie Hart, Mary Vassar, Carolyn Manbert, Lorna Campbell, Linda Barnes, Kerry Milton, Susan Tufts, Fern Tracey, Jane and Joan Hidzick and Sheila Toor.

The girls presented Dolly with a Senior Handbook and she showed them her sari and how to wear it.

Daly City girls were fascinated to hear about living in East Africa and were pleased to learn scouting (or guiding as it is called) is very similar.

Dolly Allibhai had been chosen, without her knowledge, to represent all of East Africa in New York.

ROSEMARIE CALONICO and Robert G. Fuhrman exchanged marriage vows in St. Peter and Paul's Church in San Francisco. The new Mrs. Fuhrman is a former South San Francisco resident. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carmelo Calonico, live in Daly City. Fuhrman, formerly of Michigan, is a U.S. Air Force pilot.

Haug Honored By KC Council

Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus, recently honored its outgoing grand knight.

Junior Past Grand Knight Jim Haug was the guest of honor at a dinner held at Russo's in San Bruno.

Grand Knight Glenn Allen presented him with a Leadership Award from the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus.

Haug, who has been a K. of C. for five years, is currently the Navigator of the Fourth Degree, Archbishop Alemany General Assembly.

Also in attendance at the dinner were Assistant Regional Deputy Ben Price and District Deputy John Renn.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS

Class elections were held at TN last week. The victorious students who will be leading their classes in activities this year are:

FRESHMEN: President, Mike Banks; Vice President, Vicki Lundy; Secretary, Pattie Thompson; Treasurer, Sherry Racanelli.

SOPHOMORES: President, Mark Jackson; Vice President, Miriam Douglas; Secretary, Louanne Moldovan; Treasurer, Jackie Felix.

JUNIORS: President, Dale Jay Dennis; Vice President, Virginia Swim; Secretary, Patti Schaefer; Treasurer, Virginia Patterson.

The Terra Nova Booster club officially welcomed the TN student body last week in the form of the Welcome Dance that was held on Friday, September 25. The better-than-usual turn-out danced to the music provided by ICE.

Tiger Tales, TN's quarterly magazine, announced its editorial staff recently. Editors who were not mentioned in this column last time around were: Pat Bresnahan, news editor; Mary Van Zant, assistant news editor; Lisa Savage, feature ediotr; Dennis Chantry, assistant feature editor; Steve Calais and Ken Peterson, co-sports editors.

Terra Nova and Oceana students will be participating in the county-wide Outdoor Education program as counselors for elementary school children.

They will accompany groups of San Mateo sixth graders on several five-day camping trips to Jones Gulch, La Honda. The kids will study different ecological sciences, such as botany and astronomy.

A Book Sale At DC Store

Friends of the Daly City Library will hold a book sale at the Alec Shopping Center on Saturday October 24 starting from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The profits realized from the sale will be used for library needs.

In the past, special books for the visually handicapped, movie projectors and similar special project itmes were purchased with book sale profits.

All sorts of books will be sold at greatly reduced prices—paperbacks as well as hard covered novels, texts, children's books, and non-fiction books.

DC Garden Club Gives Award

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barranti, 16 Westdale, are recipients of the Daly City Garden Club, Garden-of-the-month Award.

A rose garden is featured in the terraced, warm protected rear garden; some of the newest cultivars can be seen. Mrs. Barranti frequently exhibits roses in flower shows and is a consistent winner.

She won an Award of Merit and the Challenge Trophy in the recently held Daly City Garden Club flower show.

The front garden is landscaped with velvety lawns, evergreen shrubs and rhododendrons.

GUILD EVENT

The Ursuline Guild of St. John's High School will hold the fourth in a series of "Luncheon and Games" October 13 in the school auditorium.

Teen Events Set; Washington Will Address Boosters

The Westside Senior Teen Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, will hold a dance on Friday, October 16 from 8-11 p.m. The dance will be held in the Girls Gymnasium at Westmoor High School and will feature music by "J. J. Mad." Admission is $1 for members.

The Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department, will conduct a J-Teen co-rec and swim at Terra Nova High School on Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. Admission will be 50 cents for members and $2 for new members. Highlights of the evening will include swimming, basketball, volleyball, badminton, games and contests.

Gene Washington, star receiver for the San Francisco 49ers will be the guest speaker at the first meeting of the Oceana High School Booster's Club, October 13, at 8 p.m., in the school cafetorium.

This will be the first of a series of programs that the Booster's will sponsor this school year. Parents and all athletes are invited to attend.

There will be a reserved section for the Oceana football team. An autograph session will be held prior to the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The Executive Committee of the Serramonte High School Association met recently to formalize plans for the forthcoming year's activities.

The membership committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Lois Manbert, will start off with the "annual drive," encouraging parents and guardians not only to support SHSA but to become involved.

Enrollments of $2 a family may be sent to the school, 315 Serramonte Circle. Funds are used to maintain a revolving welfare fund, the school's drug education project and various projects throughout the year.

The first activity will be held on Wednesday evening, October 14 at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater. The faculty will be on hand to meet with the parents.

The Hillside Homeowners Improvement Association will sponsor a candidate's night on October 27 at 7:30 p.m., in the multi-purpose room of Colma K-6 School, located at East Market Street and Hillside Blvd., in Daly City.

The Kalico Kats of Daly City will celebrate their ninth anniversary with a "City Scenes Hoedown" October 10th from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

All squaredancers are invited to the War Memorial Building, 6655 Mission Street, Daly City. Dick Houlton will be the caller.

Pacifica's Bridge Club is inviting teams from the Bay Area in a challenge night against its top players.

The club will stage a monthly game for new players and is offering a class at Ortega School on Thursday nights, by Pat Ostovar, to build up the playing skills.

The new home of the club is at the Library on Palmetto and Hilton offering an open game every Friday night at 7:30.

YW Events Openings Announced

Have a chair or sofa that needs re-doing?

Then, the YWCA-sponsored upholstery class is for you. Although the majority of the fall semester classes are well underway, a second upholstery class will be starting October 19 for five weeks.

The class instructor is Cal Cook of Cal Cook's Upholstery Studio, a master of 20 years in the trade.

You will be taught all that is necessary to complete the project.

Classes are to be held in the upholstery studio, 80 Manor Drive, Pacifica.

Another course beginning its second term is the Self Improvement Workshop under the direction of Diane Darnell, at the Westlake Community Baptist Church in Daly City. This is a six week course complete with lectures, demonstrations and personal counselling as well as exercises and basic modeling techniques for poise and self confidence.

A class in creativity for boys and girls four to six years has begun.

The instructor is Kathleen O'Callaghan. Although enrollment is limited, there are still a few openings. The class meets at the Westmoor Park Clubhouse on Thursday mornings.

Ralph McNeill also has a few openings in his Drawing and Painting Class, held Wednesday evenings at 45 Southgate in Daly City.

JAN DOWNING, of Daly City, plays the sensitive role of Laura, in Skyline College's production of "The Glass Menagerie." Tom Hollander, of Pacifica, watches her from the background as they enact the "Gentleman Caller" scene. "The Glass Menagerie" will be presented in the Skyline Studio Theatre on the evenings of October 16, 17, 23 and 24, starting at eight o'clock. A special performance has been announced for October 15, and local high school students are invited to attend, as guests of the Skyline Drama Department.

Drama Club Sees Play

Westmoor High's Drama Club, along with several interested drama students, recently attended a showing of Henry V. The production was part of the Marin Shakespeare Festival and was staged outdoors in San Rafael.

The outing which was planned by the Drama Club attracted 35 students. Westmoor's drama instructor, Kenneth Brown, and student teacher, Miss Theresa Limacher, also attended.

Brown said that seeing plays of this sort may encourage some students to enter the theater; however, the trip was mostly for entertainment and the experience of seeing live theater.

The production which was set among the redwoods was presented in modern dress, since a fire destroyed the costumes earlier this year.

Future outings will include attending plays at Skyline College and A.C.T. performances in San Francisco.

Westmoor's Classes Elect Their 1970-71 Officers

Westmoor's senior class will be led by three girls and one boy for the fall 1970-71 term.

Marlene Cannova, Rick Wrockloff, Linda Balanesi and Anastasia Vouchilas were elected to the positions of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Marlene has been very active in school activities through four years of high school including three years student congress representative, California Scholarship Federation, Future Teachers, Inquire Club. In addition to her curricular activities and co-curricular activities she has been a frequent visitor at school board meetings.

Stepping into the job immediately, Marlene is making plans for oncoming year. She explains, "The most important thing is to raise money." The Christmas Dance, newspaper drive, films, bands, mini dances and a carnival are only part of what she hopes to accomplish to make the class of '71 the best senior class.

Helping to raise money and presiding over the president's place when she's absent, appointing committees and assisting the president in her duties, are several chores which will occupy Rick's time.

Linda is not new to the role of secretary, having been secretary of the Junior class. Helping the treasurer get money, taking notes and mailing letters are only a few of her responsibilities.

Anastasia, on her maiden voyage as treasurer, will be in charge of profits, expenses and organizing fund raising activities.

Adding a new dimension to the Women's Liberation movement, four members of the "weaker sex" grasped control of Westmoor High School's junior class.

Victorious in their bids for office were Sheryl Riley, president; Carol Edwards vice-president; Michele Sposato, secretary; and Patty Schuster, treasurer.

The sophomore class has elected its officers to headline the class activities for the fall semester.

The race for the presidency was not taken easily and ended in a run-off election between Jim Lynch and Tony Giammona, before Tony, following in his councilman father's footsteps, emerged the victor. Jenine Perokian, last year's Freshman secretary won the vice presidency while CSF member Ingrid Palmer became treasurer and Sandy McLennan, running unopposed, became treasurer.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

'Shah Of Salami' New Title For Enrico Romano

In the past, he has been called the "Prince of Pizzas," the "Apostle of the Anchovie," the "Chief of the Cheese." Now Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, where some of the world's finest pizzas are prepared, has been dubbed with a new subtitle: "Shah of Salami." . . . The dinner menu at Colma's Red Turtle restaurant usually consists of one entree, which is changed on a daily basis. Chef Ray Pletz' choices vary — from prime rib to post roast to pan fried chicken. On Fridays, he presents a well-portioned seafood plate. Dinners include all the trimmings . . . Upon entering the elegant Lord Fletcher Inn, Atherton, the first impressions to catch your eye are the magnificent oil portraits of Sir Winston Churchill and Dwight D. Eisenhower. Let these paintings be your guide, as the remainder of this English-style Inn is just as richly appointed . . . Jan Borgenhard of Danderyd, Sweden, was so impressed with the V.I.P. service and delicious cut-to-order steaks at Lew Lehr's Steak House in the Marina, that he vowed to spread the word throughout Sweden about Lehr's wonderful restaurant. Within three weeks, two more Swedish couples arrived at Lehr's, each with a note from Borgenhard ordering "the same dinner with the world's finest New York steak."

Enrico Romano

Being a custard pudding "nut" and ordering it at every opportunity, it would seem that Yours Truly speaks with authority when recommending you try this delicate dessert as prepared by chef Tom Delano at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. Delish, delish, delish! . . . More and more appreciative diners have been "racing" to Betty's Pic n' Pan on Twenty-fifth Avenue since its recent debut. One of the house specials is Steak n' Eggs, which tabs out for $2.75. As for dessert, if you pass up the home made Strawberry Shortcake you'll be sorry . . . Pound for pound, The Franciscan restaurant (Pier 43½) serves its share of seafood dishes to the throngs who visit San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf. This "house that George Burger built" is famed from coast to coast for its hospitality and menu. George Skaff and his son cordially tend to the dining room duties . . . Treat yourself to an old fashioned Italian dinner — and make the J and G restaurant your target. As homey as a Sunday visit with mom and dad . . . Mary Knudsen now has her Burlingame Denmark House doors open and swinging to serve you. Mary is back from a summer vacation in North Lake Tahoe, where she also owns the Viking Inn, a very successful restaurant.

Tom Delano

Ben Franklin Hotel's New Dining Room Policy

The Benjamin Franklin Hotel is now featuring something extra special in the Greenwillow dining room. In addition to the regular a la carte menu, Chef Tom Delano will feature three entrees daily, Monday through Saturday, which will include Soup or tossed salad, vegetables, dessert of the day and beverage (note entrees and prices appearing in their advertisement today). Luncheon and dinner menus are the same — no change in prices or portions. The Daily Sandwich Special will be served until 5 p.m. Pay heed to the special Martini Cocktail, which tabs out for just 50 cents.

The restaurant operation at Scotty Campbell's reminds us of a smooth-running limousine — everything is in perfect running condition. So it is at this famous Redwood City dinner house, where every member of the well-organized staff goes beyond the line of duty to see to the comfort and dining wishes of every patron. Is it any wonder that owners Mary Lou Francis and Theresa and Bud Urban feel confident of its successful management while they take care of their Wisconsin summer resort. To greet you until their return is lovely Helen Trainer, the girls' mother . . . A large appetite winner at Foster's Original Farm Fried Chicken House which is just $2.85 is the complete Chicken Dinner. It includes all the Farm-Fried Chicken you can eat and is served every day.

Theresa Urban

Having a patio get together tonight? Foster's has the serving answer in their take-out bucket of Farm-Fried Chicken. Each bucket serves five persons — and the price is $3.95. Special prices for large groups . . . Edmundo Rivan, the handsome singer at the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto, adds to the happy dining mood on Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays. The South American serenades you with velvety renditions. Mondays, catch the delightful Gail and George Muribus, a husband and wife team with a wealth of talent . . . A. Sabella's on Fisherman's Wharf not only specializes in seafood dishes, but pampers appetites with red meats and fowl. Tip to banquet planners: Price A. Sabella's Cross Rib. Makes a delicious dinner for special groups.

Comedian George Stevens, who humorizes the complexities and contrasts of 20th Century America, and dynamic singer Odia Coates are inked for a limited engagement at the San Francisco Playboy Club. Backing the show is the Al Plank Trio . . . Chuck Silveira is the new night plankman at Sal Campagna's House of Troy in San Carlos. Chuck replaces Gene Warren, who is taking a leave of absence for an extended two-year cruise on a trimaran . . . Robert H. Klingler has recently been appointed general manager of Dave Rasmussen's Shadows of San Mateo, where the Teutonic tradition is rampant. The well staffed kitchen consistently turns out an enormous range of rib sticking victuals. A typical noon-time bill of fare might include Schweizer Bratwurst, Rotkohl, Apfelmus or Sauerbraten, Kartoffel Pfannkuchen. Australian Lobster Tail and Petite Filet (baked potato) is a Shadows Combination Special that gourmets can't resist . . . The nautical decor at The Moonraker in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach is so authentic, reports Owner Nick Gust, that a retired sea captain once almost started bellowing sailing orders at the staff. The cork walls have been made from life preservers, and tan canvas sails hang from the ceiling. There are also wood pilings stacked throughout the main dining room and lounge, where a panoramic view of the rolling surf below and ships on the horizon is fantastic. For pure dining pleasure, set your sails for Nick Gust's Moonraker, located on the level above his Al Williams' Papagayo Room.

HERE WE GO AGAIN — We haven't been able to hold our head up high since GOP candidate Norton Simon got dumped in the primaries last spring, along with some of our good friends on the local scene. Sooo, when Our Boss gloatingly (?) suggested we try again on the November scrap the thought of a mid-October vacation sounded great and we tidied up the desk and booked a flight out.

UNFORTUNATELY, for both my readers, we will take the bull by the horns and name those lucky candidates that will stack up the winning votes. (Ya listening Norton?)

On the gubernatorial scene, R.R. will retain his seat, beating out challenger "Big Daddy" Unruh by (get this) 1,100,000 votes. One Daly City medic type confided Unruh lost the physicians' vote when he made all those "house calls" during his campaign.

On the educational scene we see a tough battle being waged by challenger Wilson C. Riles who gets knocked out of the ring by Der Blue Max — Rafferty. Senate-wise, we are almost, but not quite, led to believe U.S. Senator George Murphy will win over his opponent, John Tunney (wearing the purple rage in the middle corner). Publicity over his dealings with Technicolor, Inc. and age-health are a chief factor in figuring the defeat of Murphy, this humble political prognosticator feels.

Carl A. 'Ike' Britschgi will triumph over rival democratic contender Arlen Gregorio, while in the Assembly race veteran Leo Ryan will edge out GOP challenger John Sherman. Of course if memory serves we said something like that about Sherman a few months ago. Oh, the pain of those primary memories. Will the wounds never heal?

Jeff High School District — Dr. John Connelly will win in his bid for the trustee post vacated by Elio Fontana — feet down. The good doc is waging a long distance campaign from far off Ireland, and that's no little task, we'll tellya.

AND SO, DEAR READERS, that's the way the elections will come out. But just for kicks why not go out and vote for your YOUR choice — even if it doesn't agree with mine.

ROLAND PETROCCHI, Daly City police chief, celebrated his 30th year with the force last week. In those three decades Petrocchi has only used his gun on the target range. A rare breed, indeed.

SICK CALL — Council aspirant Maria Luna recovering at home following throat surgery at St. Joseph's hospital . . . Pretty Carole Smith in Mary's Help. Surgery . . . Hilda Dennis, wife of former D.C. councilman Edward J. Dennis, recovering at home following foot surgery.

LOTS OF FOLKS jumping on the garbage truck since we told about the refuse covering the slopes of San Bruno Mountain two weeks ago right here in this little old column. Funny how folks don't see anything until you point it out to them.

NOW WE POINT a wondering finger at the Outer Limits establishment across from the Cow Palace and ask city attorney Albert Polonsky what about it? The last time we asked about the place, which features rather unusual male-female stage acts, we were told it wasn't in Daly City. Checking around we find about three feet of the structure is indeed in D.C. and what about it? The place is presently being looked at by agents of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and could be the forerunner of things to come here in the North County. Who needs it?

SPEAKING OF GARBAGE (I was, you weren't) — D.C. City manager David Rowe has handed in a detailed progress report on the Mussel Rock Dump site for the Water Quality Control Board files. Let's hope they read it and not just file it.

YELLOW CAB FARES IN D.C. did not go up. Instead the company lowered the mileage. In other words, we will now pay more for less. Two years ago the company asked for a rate increase and got it. Cost of living and all that.

They promised Daly City the same car ratio as San Francisco — one-third new; one-third older and one-third even older. Next time you happen to be around one do let us know if it's a newey. Frankly, we've never seen a new one in Daly City.

D.C. POLICEMAN-TURNED-"DOC" John Kolbmann handed out cigars last week, but not because he's a new daddy. The sarg, along with officer Bob Bergstrom, acted as a sorta mid-wife at the Mission Bell Motel one recent night when Mrs. Margarita Wilson lost her race to the hospital with a stork. "Doc" Kolbman aided the woman in giving birth to a bouncing baby girl. Just another service performed by the police that hardly ever makes the news.

A Shot Boomed Through The Glen

Creeping Civilization Wiping Out Solitude Embracing Duel Site Near Daly City

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The smell of eucalyptus mingled with the fragrance of dried pine needles on that mid-September morning in 1859 as the small band of grim-faced men arrived by horsedrawn carriages in an area that is now in the City of Daly City.

A cool wind stirred the dust underfoot as the two small groups discussed the rules governing the impending gun duel in the shady glen south of Lake Merced.

Overhead, birds continued their warbling, ignoring the history that was about to be made below their perches as two of the men stood back to back.

While witnesses and seconds stood clustered a short distance away on a gently sloping hillside, the combatants stepped off their paces as they were called out.

At the count of five they turned and faced each other.

Some persons called it the first shot fired in the great Civil War. Others were not so kind; they called it cold-blooded murder.

U.S. Senator David C. Broderick, whose charisma had captured the hearts of his fellow Californians and propelled him from a barkeep to the United States Senate in only a few short years, raised his hair-triggered pistol.

The gun went off and the slug tore into the ground only a few yards in front of Broderick.

Ten paces away, facing south, stood former State Supreme Court Justice David S. Terry who had resigned his bench to challenge Broderick to this duel.

Versions of why the challenge was offered vary.

Historians claim Terry, an accomplished duelist and known southern sympathizer, was merely doing the dirty work for Broderick's chief antagonist in the U.S. Senate, Senator Gwin.

They explain that Gwin, who had mustered much support from southern factions in the Senate and was the senior U.S. senator from the state, did not particularly like Broderick.

And Broderick fanned the fire of animosity between them by ridiculing Gwin whenever he had the chance.

Whatever the real reason for the duel on that election year morning, with the threat of a Civil War hanging over the nation and tempers increasingly edgy over the issues of the day, the two men faced each other — one with a smoking gun that had missed its mark completely.

Terry slowly raised his weapon and carefully aimed.

The shot boomed and rebounded through the glen as Terry sarcastically remarked: "That shot should have been one inch to the right."

Broderick stood for an instant looking at his former friend of many years, turned and collapsed as a red splotch grew larger on his right chest.

It took seconds several hours to wind their way back to San Francisco and medical aid. Broderick died from his wounds three days later.

But the frustration of the people was evident as grown men sobbed at his funeral.

Col. E. D. Baker pronounced the eulogy at Broderick's funeral that brought sobs from everyone.

"As he arose and stretched out his arms over the casket in which Broderick's body lay, his opening words were: 'Men of California behold your Senator.'"

So wrote C. C. Goodwin in his book, "As I Remember Them."

Today, the site is much the same except creeping civilization has wiped out the complete solitude that embraced the area.

Influence Still Strong

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

Immediately after the short and devastating Arab-Israeli War of 1967, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic announced his resignation from "every official post and every political role." Today, Nasser is gone from every official post, but not as yet from every political role. In death, he stands larger as a political force than he did during his lifetime, and many decades must pass before his influence will erode.

Nasser's announcement of 1967 was an act of political genius. He had been influential in stirring up a war that ended as an Arab disaster. With two billion dollars of foreign hardware, and a decade of training under Russian supervision, the United Arab effort in actual combat served only to create a generation of Israeli heroes.

History has not been kind to losers of wars. Losing leaders often end up without their heads, much less their jobs. And Nasser's war was unusually personalized and extraordinarily unsuccessful. With loss of land, destruction of planes and decimation of field forces, Nasser was in a dreadful personal situation.

To get out of the mess he did two things. With the cooperation of King Hussein, he falsely claimed that the British and-or Americans had provided the victorious air forces. The world soon knew that his charge wasn't so, but the people of the UAR doubtless believed this foolishness for a long enough period to save him.

Nasser also announced his resignation. What followed, throughout the Arab world, was an emotional insistence that he remain. After a suitable period of begging, crying, howling, building, burning and gun shooting, Nasser graciously bowed "to the voice of the people" and kept his job.

Nasser's political talents extended well beyond his finely tuned sense of self survival. Within the UAR, he was an innovator, and did much to improve housing and living conditions, the emancipation of women, the teaching of birth control, and the philosophic reconciliation of the Koran with Arab socialism. He was unusually successful in playing the East and West against one another.

But his greatest accomplishment was found in the development of personal prestige beyond the borders of the UAR. He plainly established his primacy in the middle of the world's most renowned bag of worms. For the seething, writhing and churning world of 110 million Arabs looked to Nasser as a force of unification.

This, for Nasser, or for anyone, was quite a feat. For a thousand years the scalding animosities of the Near East had consumed Arabic energies and burned out potential leaders. His emergence as an image and a reality of cooperative effort will remain as one of the most important historical happenings of this century.

In death, his strength as a symbol may be greater than in life. The question now relates to the nature of that symbolism. His memory could be used by the Arab world to perpetuate the attitude of self pity, hatred and vengeance that saw two breath-taking desert defeats (1956 and 1967), or it could become one of hope and reconciliation for the area and its people.

Because of this, Nasser's funeral and coming Arab sanctification are matters important to the world and its hopes of peace.

Plight Of A Teetotaler

SAMUEL CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

Consider the plight of the teetotaler — that hapless, star-crossed character who binds himself to drink no alcoholic liquor. He has been neglected, ridiculed, and left to imbibe concoctions bad enough to make him turn (or return) to drink.

Although he and his non-drinking friends constitute almost one-fourth of the nation's adult population, they are forgotten by the people who can help them out of their misery.

The ponderous Bartender's Manual does not mention the abstainer, yet every bartender has a story of some unhappy person who wants to be with the boys, yet not guzzle the poison, as one bartender phrased it. "What the abstainer should do is memorize the names of fruit juices and carbonated mixes that he can order from nearly any bar without embarrassing himself or the one that serves him."

THE LIST ON PAGE 64 of the Bartenders Manual contains these names: Coca Cola, Club Soda, 7-UP, Tonic Water, and Ginger Ale, and these juices: orange, tomato, grapefruit, lime, pineapple and lemon.

The printing industry, likewise, has forgotten the teetotaler, although sober men read more than drunks.

However, a few periodicals have featured guides to non-alcoholic drinks. One of these may be found in an article in Harper's Bazaar in June 1969 by Shirley Lord. She lists a ginger float (ice cream and ginger ale), fruit punch (fruit juice and ginger ale over ice), a blackout cocktail (lime juice and blackberry juice over crushed ice), a horses neck (plain ginger ale), eggnog and lemon nag.

A GUIDE FOR THE ABSTAIER who is traveling abroad appeared in the January 1969 issue of Holiday Magazine. The author of the directory writes that "soft refreshments" exist in Europe in a richer variety than the man in the wagon ever dreamed of back home. "Such drinks," the author states, "allow the once unhappy man to escape from the straight, jacket that has up till now forced him to drink wine, brandy, schnapps or aquavit whether he wanted to or not, and he smiles in his ginger beer, citron presse, traubensaft chinotto or Yugo-Cokta — Happy soul."

To make some souls happy who are not traveling as well as "not drinking," an article in the Sunday Examiner and Chronicle may be consulted with profit.

Here at long last someone, Earl Shorris in this case, has recognized soda pop — soft beverage holding the same place in our hearts as wine for the French, beer for the Germans, tea for the English, Scotch for the Scots, etc." His article touches upon when to drink soda pop, and how to enjoy it. For this reason, it makes a valuable guide.

FOR THE NON-DRINKER and his hostess Betty Rollin and Lucy Rosenfeld have produced a book with 351 taste-tempting, thirst-quenching recipes. In the introduction, Miss Rollin writes that the burden for making the "non-drinker" feel at ease and for providing for him "lies squarely on the host and on the hostess."

Miss Rollin prefaces the book with these words. "Because of health, religion, age, weight, money, or simple dislike, almost one-fourth of the nation's adult population, plus all children (we hope), are out there not drinking. Here are 350 things to do about it."

Post Books

"The Dick," by Bruce Jay Friedman.

Like the cobra in a snake charmer's act, Friedman's detective Ken LePeters casts a spell. The speil is shocking, initially-built on black humor about blacks and prejudice in general, and filled with four-letter words and deadpan descriptions of outrageous situations.

Detective LePeters is a scar-faced Jew who changed his name from Sussman and moved from public relations assignments in western homicide bureaus to a similar one in an east coast city. He and his colleagues act out their many prejudices in sledgehammer style in a plot that apparently intends to parody everything from sexy whodunits to psychological novels.

LePeters has a wife who it seems is frigid until she takes up with an ex-cop turned dirty movie producer. Their 10-year-old daughter attends a school with an almost all-black enrollment. The wife insists she be transferred. LePeters is ambivalent about this, as about everything else, in a novel that might have made an effective short story in a certain contemporary style. As a novel, it's a dirty bore.

Sportscripts

One of the main topics of our conversation last week with Giant manager Charley Fox, the local boy who made good (or don't you remember that he lived up there on Skyline Drive when he was coaching third base for the Giants), was the new ersatz playing surfaces and their possible long-term effects on the game. Fox indicated that he could foresee a more widspread use of the exceptionally quick infielder, but didn't see the demise of the slower but shrewder infielders of the Dick Groat-Lou Boudreau stripe, the players who depended on positioning rather than quickness.

"With a good, experienced pitching staff, fellas who can put the ball where they want it, which in turn allows smart infielders to position themselves properly because they know that a pitcher will be throwing a certain pitch a certain place to a hitter who tends to hit such pitches in certain spots, slower infielders will still be effective."

Charley also doesn't necessarily think that with the lowered mound and the new fast surfaces a sinker ball pitcher is obsolete or that a guy who throws a high, hard one has a greater edge.

"The sinking fast ball is still a great asset, but I think that most infields are eventually going to be like Cincinnati, with no dirt at all in the base paths. So if a pitcher can make the batter hit the ball on the ground, on one hand his infielder will get truer bounces, but on the other hand, they'll be traveling faster. So fellas like Frank Linzy, who live by the sinker, are going to have to come up with another pitch.

"As for the fellas who throw the high, hard one having an extra advantage, well, in my opinion, they've always had an extra advantage. Any pitcher who ever had a high, hard one has always been in demand. But then again, they have to have a little more than that great fast ball, because all real good hitters are fast ball hitters.

"HITTING AGAINST a good fast ball is just like driving in a car suddenly accelerating to 100 miles an hour. At first it seems spectacularly fast. But after you keep up that speed for maybe 15-20 miles, you lose perspective, and you don't think you're going too fast.

"It's the same with hitters. That great fast ball may seem untouchable in the first inning, but if that's all they see, maybe about half way through the game they start sighting in on them, even though the pitcher may not have slowed down at all.

"Another thing you can do with a strictly fast ball pitcher is make him throw as many pitches as you can. Then maybe by the fifth or sixth inning he'll tire. Then maybe you get a man on base, and no matter how hard a fella can throw, he loses a little bit pitching from the stretch.

"It's almost an impossibility to get by in the majors today on one pitch. A lot of people will say, well, Bobby Feller did it, but he didn't. He also had a great curve, which wasn't recognized until he got older and his fast one slowed. A lot of people say Sam McDowell gets by on just his fast ball, but he has a great curve, and has always had one. I scouted him in high school, when nobody else knew he existed, and he had a real good curve then. What happened was that he hurt his arm and gave up on the curve for a while, and then became known as strictly a fast ball pitcher. But his curve is back now, and if a hitter is winding up for that fast one and he throws the curve, that hitter can say, 'Dear mother, send me 50, I'm comin' home.'

"Sandy Koufax, of course, also had a great curve. He's a perfect example of what I was talking about (Note: in last week's column) when I said you have to stick with those strong young arms. You sit around with your coaches and you say, 'My God, when will this young fella ever get to the point where he'll be able to get the ball over the plate.' Then all of a sudden one year, he puts it all together.

"IF YOU HAVE A BIG, strong fella who can throw hard and if you can teach him a respectable curve and change, you've just got to keep running him out there every four days. You'll get chewed up by the fans, but they chewed up Koufax and Alston, too, and ended up paying to see Koufax pitch."

Charley Fox has an abiding faith in the Giants' farm system and his young players. He believes that baseball dynasties are built by growing your own — not by trading.

"Sometimes trading is necessary to shore up a weakness, and can be profitable if you're over-loaded in one position. But generally when you make a trade you're giving something up. And it always hurts to trade away one of your own, after the work and hope you've put into him. It's like giving up a part of yourself."

Fox says he is fortunate in that, having been in the Giant system so long and thus having had most of his players in the minors, he has a big edge over a newcomer to the system in that he knows his personnel, isn't as likely to make trading mistakes, and can take a lot of short-cuts.

"By the time a newcomer learns about his players and they learn about him," says Charley, shaking his head in empathy, "it could cause quite a turmoil. Now, I've known most of my players, and have had no trouble whatsoever with them. They're good guys, ready to play. They enjoy themselves and go out there and play to the best of their ability. As far as I'm concerned, they're a happy club. They make me look good.

"The biggest thing in managing is to have rapport with your players. I don't care how much you know about the game, if you alienate the players on a personal basis, you lose communication with them. For instance, there's no use chewing them out for physical errors. I've played with managers, you make a physical error, they went crazy. Well, that's ridiculous. That's part of the game. Of course, if there are too many of them, you know, and the players know, you're going to have to make a change."

CHARLEY IS AN OLD TIMER in point of service, but a modern thinker. He realizes that the game has changed and that the players have changed since he broke in in 1942. There is a new philosophy.

"Let's face it, a lot of young players just aren't as determined as they used to be, and one thing you can't build in a player is determination. A lot of them nowadays are not willing to go through the minors, wait their turn. They want to make it right now or they'll quit. Years ago they couldn't do that because there was nothing to quit to. You either made your living at the thing God gave you the ability to do, or forgot it, went out and worked at manual labor or some other menial job.

"Most fellas today have formal educations. They can do other things— although, ironically, hardly any of them would be able to make with their college degrees what they can make as pros, especially with the pension plans. But nevertheless, they are still trained to do other things. So, to become finished athletes nowadays, they have to want more than just to make a living. The youngsters who make it nowadays are almost always extroverts, hams, showmen.

"They glory in the publicity, the headlines, the public adulation. There's no question about it. If they didn't want these things, most of them wouldn't become professional athletes."

The Giants' formula is to get players right out of high school, if they can, and pay their way through college in the off-seasons as long as they're playing ball.

What would Charley Fox advise his teen-age son to do if and when he wants to go into professional Baseball?

"If I thought my son would be only a fringe ball player, I would tell him to get his education first, then try baseball. See how he likes it and how he does at it. Live it at least three years, learn his trade thoroughly, and if he can't make it, quit, not hang around waiting for a miracle."

Which is fine advice, except that if one Charley Fox had followed it, he would have missed HIS miracle.

Capuchino Gridders Upset SSF

By JERRY LITTRELL

Midway through the second half Friday Capuchino High School quarterback Keith Hernandez was one exasperated football player.

"I can't believe it," he said to Mustang coach Vince Marchi on the sidelines. "We should have scored three times already and instead we are losing, 7-0."

Marchi's answer was clairvoyant indeed. "Don't worry," he assured the lefthander. "I got the play all set up for you. We'll score and you'll throw that two-point conversion and the scoreboard will read 8-7 in our favor."

Three minutes later Cap began another of its many marches down Burlingame High School's field only this time the Mustangs kept going until they reached the end zone. Barry Visen, on the sidelines all last year with injuries, broke a backfield tackle with a spearing straightarm and shot into touchdown territory from 10 yards out with only 1:53 showing on the clock. First part of the prediction in the bag.

After a brief timeout Hernandez fired a perfect strike to end Bob Scott and the two-point PAT was the difference in an 8-7 Capuchino victory over powerful South San Francisco High School. It was the second straight win for Marchi's Mustangs and the first loss in three tries for the North Peninsula League visitors. In fact, it was the first time in 142 minutes of grid action that SSF had allowed a touchdown. It was one too many.

South City controlled the game in the first half — Cap reversed the roll in the second half. Completing three passes and running for 34 yards on roll-out options, Hernadez guided the Mustangs on their fifth sustained drive of the night until Visen scored.

"I knew we would score — we just had to," Marchi said. "We kept moving the ball up and down the field, just like last week, but never getting close to the goal. It had to pay off eventually."

Warrior halfback Al Arista began the game by returning the opening kickoff 67 yards upfield. After two power plays, SSF's Hank Love scooted through the middle for a 23-yard score. Then both squads went up and down the field, always threatening but never producing.

Excellent defense by Cap's Duane Baker and Dennis Haag helped keep the Warriors away the rest of the game. SSF's minute halfbacks, Arista and Mike Senkir, each prevented Cap scores with perfect defensive ploys on pass defense. Arista knocked one pass loose from a Cap end on the Warrior 15 resulting in a SSF fumble recovery while Senkir knocked down two sure touchdown passes with leaping slaps.

Now if Marchi will just take a look into the future of the stock market he might have something going.

Serramonte Keeps Surprising Them!

Being unbeaten, untied and unscored upon is a very rare honor, indeed.

And it is even a more notable phenomon when it is your first real season in topflight varsity competition, such as Serramonte High School.

The upstart Regents arose to the occasion for the third straight week on Friday, running roughshod over Crestmoor, 26-0, on the winner's field.

"All that I can say is that it is a great feeling," commented Serramonte coach Jack Thur. "Our defense has been doing an outstanding job and I can't say enough about our kids," Thur added.

"It's an entire team effort," he noted. "The kids just seem to go to the ball."

"But next week will be the real test," Thur pointed out. The Regents take on a vengeful South City outfit in their North Peninsula League opener.

Thur went on to single out the offensive lineplay of guard Dennis Albrecht and tackle Dave LaGuardia.

After battling to a scoreless first quarter, the Regents Wade Littlejohn picked up a Falcon fumble and raced 70 yards for a score in the second quarter to give the hosts a 6-0 lead at the intermission.

Elliott Mark added two more tallies in the third period when he hauled in a 9-yard scoring pass from Ron Beltramo and added a 65 yard touchdown run. Wayne Martin concluded the Regent scoring with a 24-yard touchdown run.

San Mateo Edges Rams By 2 Points

With the degree of improvement shown by San Mateo High School over the first two games of the 1970 season, the Bearcats must now be considered a serious threat in a season that was originally planned as a rebuilding one for Buzz Williams' lads.

Eliminating virtually every mistake that plagued its first win last week over Jefferson's Indians, San Mateo came through with a well-executed 20-18 upset win over Westmoor High School, defending champion of the North Peninsula League but a club that has more than its share of problems this season.

The Rams outgained the Bearcats in total offense but had two touchdowns and a two-point PAT pass conversion called back because of penalties. But for the third straight game, leading to a 1-2 record, the Rams were unable to establish a ground game and had to rely on lefty Mike Swallow's aerial antics for movement.

San Mateo, however, still had a fellow named Kevin O'Don- carried the ball 28 times for 139 yards and scored the winning touchdown with just 3:48 left in the game. It had been a see-saw battle to that point.

"We knew that we would have to play a near-perfect game to beat Westmoor," an emotionally drained Williams said walking off the field, "and that's what our players did. Our defense stopped them on the ground and we were lucky enough to get a few breaks at the right moment to go our way."

The final 12 minutes were frantic. The Rams took a 12-6 lead into the last period but fumbled on the second play and SM's Dave Kelly fell on the ball at the three. Rob Peterson ran three yards on the next play and the Bearcats tied it, 12-all.

Five minutes later Swallow found end Dave Riley from seven yards out, after a drive that started on the 35, and Westmoor had an 18-12 lead, after missing its thrid straight PAT kick try. When in doubt SMHS handed the ball to O'Donnel.l

The powerful runner, maybe the best in the Mid-Peninsula League, carried the ball seven of eight plays and gained 72 of the 76 yards on the next drive and capped it with a one-yard scoring plunge. Then the Bearcats went to the air for the PAT with Robert Gomes finding Tucker Hiatt for the winning two-pointer. Westmoor wasn't completely dead.

The Rams marched quickly upfield through the air only to have the drive stopped on the 30 with great defense by Dale Curry and Emmett Stanton. With just over 2:15 left San Mateo appeared to have the game locked up but a fumble on the 38 gave the Rams still another life.

A Swallow-to-Brad Kearns pass covered 31 yards and it was first and goal on the seven. Halfback Keith Tatum scored on the next play but offsetting penalties nullified the td. Then Hiatt intercepted Swallow's pass attempt and the clock ran out on Westmoor.

Gomes and Bill Smith alternated the first half with Smith completing four of six passes in the second quarter in an impressive performance. Mike Hess, the Bearcats' huge mainstay, played a superlative game on defense, displaying excellent mobility on his 250-pound frame.

With the obvious size and talent available on the Westmoor roster it remains a real mystery as to what exactly has happened to the '69 NPL champs.

Sharks Downed By Salesian '11

If the Oceana Sharks are going to make any dent in the North Peninsula League football race this year, they are going to have to blow a little more air into its offense.

The Sharks bowed to Salesain, 20-0, in a practice game on the latter's turf Friday night as Oceana twice ran out of gas inside the hosts 20 yard line in the late going.

The coastside gridders get their seasonal initiation into the NPL wars next Friday when they host Terra Nova.

In last week's game, Salesian quarterbacks Wayne Vierra and Steve Alameda teamed up to hist 11 out of 15 passes for 129 yards and two touchdowns.

End Dwyane Morrison was the recipient of both scoring tosses, as he grabbed a 22 yarder from Vierra and a ten-yarder from Alameda.

Oceana halfback Dave Williams highlighted the Sharks' effort with 71 yards in 14 carries. Quarterback Desi Chavez, though thwarted through the airwaves, picked up an additional 54 yards running.

Dons Coach Philosophic In Victory

By PETE BARSOCCHINI

Aragon High School's head football coach Harold Huffman is a man who possesses an ample amount of perspective.

And after his Dons resoundingly thrashed the Jefferson Indians Friday afternoon, 38-8, this quality surfaced in abundant proportion as Huffman evaluated the pre-season tussle.

"Sure, 'Im satisfiedl with the way we looked today," stated the Don coach in a philosophic tone," but looking ahead to the MPL season, we've still got a long way to go."

Huffman speaks the truth. Although Aragon had little trouble in handling the hapless Indians, the Dons must sharpen a number of extremely rough edges in order to remain afloat in the upcoming MPL season.

But on Friday Aragon dominated the Indians almost to the point of absurdity as they held Jefferson to only 35 yards in total offense. The Dons were especially stingy in the second half in holding Jeff to minus-three yards rushing for the final two periods.

Aragon was able to score in every quarter and the lone Indian TD came on a fumble recovery in the fourth period, long after the contest had been decided.

The Mateans wasted no time in initiating the rout as halfback Ross Takahashi dashed 33 yards for the game's opening score with slightly more than three minutes elapsed in the tiff. Jefferson fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Aragon recovered on the Indian 32 yard line. Seven plays later Don quarterback Eric Craig ran 14 yards for the tally to put Aragon ahead to stay.

The Dons scored again with 3:42 remaining in the half when Mark Baldwin pounded across left-tackle to give Aragon a 19-0 lead going into the final two periods.

Craig scored his second TD in the third stanza on a three yard run which was set up by an Aragon interception and two consecutive offsides penalties on the Indians.

Jefferson had the ball for exactly one play following Craig's score when Don defensive back Greg Komosarek picked off an errant Indian pass and scampered 33 yards for Aragon's fifth tally.

The Indians got on the scoreboard early in the final period when linebacker Al Chalk recovered a fumble by Aragon's punter in the Don's endzone. Fittingly, Aragon finished the scoring moments later with a 24-yard pass play form Dave Matisi to John Gabriel.

A Lesson For CSM Saturday

Belief in one's own abilities, sort of a controlled ego trip, is an excellent trait but, unfortunately in football, it doesn't take the place of sound fundamental execution.

It's a lesson College of San Mateo learned the hard way last Saturday on the Hilltop gridiron as the highly touted Bulldogs were surprised and upset by visiting Diablo Valley Junior College, 27-22, in the Golden Gate Conference opener for both schools.

State-ranked previous to the five-point loss, coach Bill Dickey's eleven, now 2-1, got off on the wrong foot, made too many mental and physical mistakes and had to try to come back from a 21-0 first half deficit. The Bulldogs made it close but it ain't horseshoes.

"We played like we really believed all the press releases about ourselves," Dickey noted. "We didn't tackle well at all and our mental concentration was not nearly as sharp as it should have been. Take nothing away from Diablo Valley — they are a great football team. They proved that against us. They were ready — we weren't."

Two DVJC players just about handled all the offense for the Vikings. Halfback Pat Riley, one irate Irishman who had the strength and stamina of an entire backfield, carried the ball 35 times for 161 yards and three touchdowns, including the all-important final one when the Bulldogs were driving for the lead. Riley, who transfered in from Oregon State in one of

Padres Clobber WCAL Vikings

By JOHN HORGAN

As the yellow rent-a-bus moved slowly through the teeming San Mateo parking lot, the driver, a prissy sort, glided his swaying craft to a lumbering halt and asked Serra Coach Jesse Freitas if he would please make those brutish fellows back there behave.

"What am I supposed to do about it?" Freitas bellowed at the harassed driver.

A good question.

No one had been able to handle Jess' crew of happy hitters all afternoon last Saturday.

Like a bunch of rampaging lumberjacks let loose in town, the Padre defensive contingent ran roughshod over a manpower-depleted Mills team, 28-0, allowing the Mid-Peninsula League Vikings a minus 13 yards net for the game. The Vike quarterback, Jay Merrill, was decked 12 times attempting to pass for 98 yards lost.

And the Pads smiled all the way through the one-sided romp.

"Our guys just like to hit people," Freitas enthused later. "We are getting this raw-boned big kid at school and they just love to play defense. We haven't had just one or two but a whole gang of tough kids."

He'll need them all Friday night.

Regardless of all the joviality after the Mills test, something a bit more menacing is now on the immediate horizon on that evening: a meeting with powerful unbeaten Bellarmine at Santa Clara's Buck Shaw Stadium. That one marks the West Catholic Athletic League opener for Serra's two-time defending champions and it will have an immediate bearing on the 1970 title picture.

But Freitas feels that the situation in the WCAL has changed now to the point where he could say without hesitation last weekend that, "We can beat Bellarmine. We can win it. A few years ago we'd say we'd be satisfied just to give them a good game. That's not true anymore."

"We have the kind of kid who isn't awed by them at all. They won't run over us by any means."

In spite of that outburst of optimisim (which is somewhat understandable since Serra has shut out the Bells the last two seasons in a row), the Padres have some pressing problem to attend to.

Even though sophomore quarterback Jeff Linton of San Mateo did toss three touchdown passes, two to Bill Jackson, against Mills (he had another called back and two others dropped by open receivers), the Serra offense is none too formidable.

"We are just too green," Freitas complained. Using juniors and sophomores liberally throughout, Serra backs and ends fumbled seven times.

"You shouldn't be able to win a championship in our league with a sophomore quarterback, but we're just going to have to live with it," he continued.

The fact that Mills suited up only 25 players (another was lost during the game) helped the Pads immeasurably. A dozen Vikings couldn't play in the non-league affair because of injuries.

Having experienced two consecutive 28-0 shutouts by WCAL schools over the past two weekends, Mills Coach Don Peter shook his head and mused, "This was not the year to have a schedule like that."

True, true.

NEIL KUERSTEN
CSM "Best Hitter"

Kuersten And Scott Honored For Efforts

College of San Mateo flankerback Tom Scott has been doubly honored for his three touchdown role in defeating American River College, 25-16. He has earned both "Bulldog of the Week" recognition from the CSM coaching staff and JC offensive player of the week honors from the Northern California Football Writers.

CSM coaches also selected "stinger" Neil Kuersten as "best hitter" for the American River game. Scott, a Serra grad from Daly City, and Kuersten, a former South San Francisco prep, both were All-Golden Gate Conference (second team) last season, as well as former "Bulldogs of the Week."

University of California-bound Scott led the GGC in scoring last season with 72 points with 30 points already in two games this season, he has now moved into second place on the all-time Bulldog career scoring list with 102 points. Al Namanny (1966-67) has the CSM single season and career scoring marks of 92 and 140 points, respectively.

Scott has passed one Bulldog career scoring mark, his two TDcatches against ARC giving him ten pass tallies, two more than Gary Fleming achieved in 1966-67. Fleming still holds the Bulldog career marks of 51 receptions for 1062 yards. But Scott last year erased Fleming's single season totals with 29 catches for 556 yards and eight touchdowns. He's now moved up to second with career totals of 33 receptions and 686 yards.

Dickey also points out, "He's a very complete back." Scott operates at flanker — where he scored on 61 and 52 yard first quarter tosses from Wayne Willis against American River; as a running — where he's tallied on six and 19 yard runs thus far this season; and as a deep receiver on punts — where he ran one back 61 yards for a score against San Joaquin Delta in CSM's season opening 32-6 win.

"Kuersten saved us many times with his stunting," says Dickey of the American River game. "He has the ability to read a situation and react to it in the proper manner and make the big play."

Although the 6-0, 200 pound Kuersten usually plays the "stinger" or deep linebacker spot, "He has the size to come inside to defensive and when necessary," Dickey points out. "And he has the ability to cover the quickest receiver while playing in the secondary."

A Lesson For CSM Saturday

the biggest finds of the century, was unstoppable on a counter-trap play that made the Bulldog defense appear non-existent.

"It wasn't a surprise play at all," said Dickey. "We knew they ran it but we didn't react to the situations." Riley ran gains of 17, 13, 10, 10 and 8 from that formation and together with quarterback Rodney Christiansen riddled the CSM defense time and again.

The offensive star of the afternoon, however, was guess who? That's right — CSM's Tom Scott. Even though double-covered, the CSM sophomore scored all three Bulldog touchdowns, ran the ball five times for 19 yards and caught nine passes for a whopping 176 yards.

The Bulldogs fumbled on the first play of the day and set the stage for the rest of the afternoon. Riley scored eight minutes into the period from two yards out and Christiansen found Gunther Gutierrez on the next series from 42 yards out with such a clear-field catch it was embarassing. The Vikings' next series ended in a 17-yard run by Riley and all of a sudden it was time to panic for CSM.

Neil Kuersten, the defensive standout all day, knocked Chris Knight into the end zone while the DV back was attempting to field a punt and CSM had its first points on a safety. Just before the half the Bulldogs struck again as quarterback Wayne Willis threw five straight times, the final one to Scott from 20 yards out. Willis had a creditable afternoon with 19 completitions out of 31 tries.

The Vikings began sweating in the last moments of the third quarter when Scott caught Willis' perfect-lead eight-yarder to make it 21-16. But with 6:35 left in the game Riley slithered over from the three to give the visitors some breathing room, 27-16.

Willis took to the air again and found Scott alone in the far corner of the end zone from the 18 for the final tally at 3:29. DV ran off most of the final minutes, surrendered the ball once at 0:57 but immediately regained it on a pass interception, and it was all over for the day.

Cross Country Wins For T.N.

Terra Nova's Tigers have successfully started their Cross-Country season with back-to-back team victories.

Last Saturday the Tigers upset pre-season N.P.L. favorite Oceana at the latter's Invitational meet. The Tigers demonstrated excellent team work in sweeping three divisions: Varsity, J.V.'s and Frosh-Soph.

Monday, the Tigers journeyed to Golden Gate park to win over Wilson and Poly High Schools of San Francisco. Terra Nova was paced by Brad Moberly's 12:08 run over the 2.5 mile course.

A Slow Pitch League Ending

The Women's Slo-Pitch Softball League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, nears the end of league play for the season. Linda Torrez led the Odd Balls to their sixth win when she connected for a home run and a triple.

Good fielding was highlighted by the talents of Doris Sneler. C&L Garage lost the game with a final score of 8 - 5. Nancy Albright of C&L Garage hit a double in the sixth inning. Outstanding plays were executed by Phyllis Tapia, Betty Median, and Betty Sylvia but failed to close the 8 - 5 lead held by the Odd Balls.

Winners Of SSF Football Events Told

Eighteen winners were determined from a large field of entrants in the Lautze Ford-South San Francisco Recreation and Park cDepartment's co-sponsored Punt, Pass and Kick contest held recently at Orange Memorial Park.

Coordinator for the event was John Falsarella of the Recreation and Park Department. Fred Lautze Ford was represented by Sales Manager Loy Grier who made the trophy presentations to the youngsters. Staff for the large turnout of boys was provided by the South City playground Recreation Leaders.

First place winners will continue on to Sunset Park in San Francisco to compete Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Zone A Finals of the Punt, Pass and Kick Competition.

First, second and third place trophies were awarded to the following boys:

Eight year olds—Todd Baltor, Kevin Latz, Noel Wallace.

Nine year olds—Dennis Clary, Gregg Maure, Todd Goulding.

Ten year olds—Anthony Maffei, Kevin Greggana, J. Richard Smith.

Eleven year olds—Timothy Green, Richard Bordi, Carl Segelke.

Romano's Wins Over B. Zanca

The 1970 Fall Slow-Pitch League got underway last week with six clubs, Martinizing All-Stars, Arden Dairy, Babe Zanca, Romano's, St. Francis Delicatessen and West Wallboard. All games are played at Ortega School on Sundays.

Romano's used the long ball hittling of John Morris and John Leland to nip Babe Zanca 3-2. Lenny Girrard led the Zanca Boy's with a perfect 3 for 3 on the day.

Randy Wilcox and Joe Maurino combined to rap out 8 hits as St. Francis Delicatessen edged West Wallboard 11-10. Barry Lewis led West Wallboard with 3 hits.

SI Topples SSF Runners

South San Francisco cross-country runners couldn't handle the big city competition but still came out ahead of two other North Peninsula League schools in a practice meet Wednesday.

The Warriors finished second in St. Ignatius and ahead of El Camino and Serramonte in the four-way meet run over a 2.1-mile course at South San Francisco. St. Ignatius handily won the other three divisions.

CSM Water Polo Unit Eyes Title

Bolstered by the retunr of two junior college All-Americans, College of San Mateo water polo coach Rich Donner will be seeking a fourth straight Golden Gate Conference championship in 1970.

The Bulldogs have a heavy practice game slate, including two tournaments, before opening GGC play at Diablo Valley Oct. 9.

The Bulldogs have all-star players Les Hamann from Sequoia High and Howard DeLano from Carlmont plus three other lettermen back from last year's second place team in the state.

CSM came out on the short end of a 6-4 decision to Fullerton JC in the 1969 state finale but still posted the best JC won-loss record in the state (and probably the nation) at 26-3.

Other Bulldog lettermen are Larry DeMuth from Woodside, an honorable mention All-GGC choice; Fred Meyers (San Carlos), a JC All-American swimmer; and John Olson (El Camino). Dave Casagrande (El Camino) also returns from last year's championship team.

Donner lists his top newcomers as John Butler (Menlo-Atherton), a first team All-Coast Conference pick as captain of the Menlo College water polo team last season, plus Pete Baumgartner (Bellarmine Prep and a Menlo Park resident) and Billy Hunt. A San Carlos High grad, Hunt was an all-state prep poloist last season.

Donner's early evaluation of his team is "fair." He says, "We're small, but fast."

B-A Softball Teams Win In Daly City

The Bank of America got a real scare last week but managed to hang on for a 9-8 win over the Lo-Sky-Highs to maintain first place in the Daly City Recreation Division's Late Summer Adult Slow Pitch Softball League.

The Daly City Blisters retained their second lace status; by bombing the Hustlers 18-3 while Mathe ny's Marauders took a wild encounter from the Golden Gators by the score of 18-17.

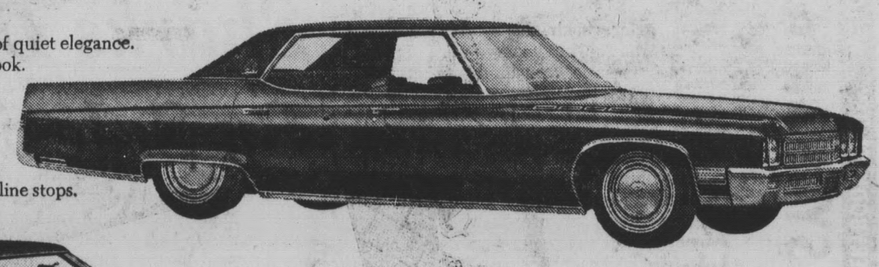
1971. Buick introduces a new set of values.

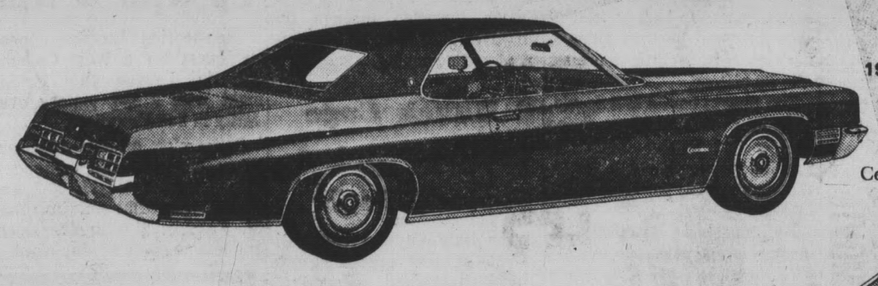
Value, not gimmicks or ornamentation, sells cars.
More people have been coming to Buick each year for just that reason. Buick concentrates on value.
And this year, Buick introduces a new set of values. Features that will help make your new Buick perform better, last longer and get you more of a return on your investment at trade-in time.
Only a Buick dealer can offer you our new set of values. So, test your values against our new ones. Then ask yourself this simple question. Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Something to believe in.

1971 Buick Riviera. A totally new design concept. And that's not all. Riviera offers MaxTrac, an exclusive power control system you can order with its own on-board computer. It helps you get securely over slick surfaces by reducing rear-wheel slipping. The new body features side-guard beams for protection, a bigger trunk, and a driver cockpit with a control center designed around the driver for new ease and convenience.

1971 Buick Electra 225. A new interpretation of quiet elegance. We've improved our Electra everywhere you look. There's more room in every direction, interiors that can be appreciated as much for their durability as for their beauty and comfort, even a new balanced braking system. A unique valve proportions braking force front to rear to help give you quick, smooth straight-line stops.





1971 Buick Centurion. This is our newest Buick, a city car with sleekness and grace as well as muscle. It features more nimble variable-ratio power steering, power front disc brakes, Full-Flo ventilation, and a vinyl roof on the Centurion Formal Coupe as standard equipment.

1971 Buick Skylark Custom. This is the car that has set the pace for value in its price class. Rocker panels that wash and dry themselves, big-Buick room and comfort inside, a cooling system that should never overheat, inner fenders that protect the outer fenders, and a modest price have put our Buick Skylark traditionally among the resale leaders in its class.

1971 Buick LeSabre. An incredible new offering of Buick value. The LeSabre, like the Riviera, Electra and Centurion, features AccuDrive, a new version of the directional stability system we pioneered. It will help give you smooth handling.

An Important Improvement. Every new Buick engine is now designed to run smoothly and efficiently, and with lower exhaust emissions, on no-lead and low-lead gasolines. And every Buick V-8 engine will have exclusive nickel-plated exhaust valves for smoother operation and longer valve life, and a new time-modulated choke to help give quicker warm-up and a more consistent fuel mixture.

BLUE CHIP STAMPS mayfair SUPERMARKETS

Prices Effective Seven Full Days, Wednesday, Oct. 7 thru Tuesday, Oct. 13, in all Departments!

were you left holding a half-filled stampbook?

Blue Chip Stamps are something you sort of take for granted when you do your grocery shopping. In fact, you take them so much for granted that you might not even notice it when your store stops giving them. You get home. Unpack all the groceries. No stamps. So, the next week you ask and are politely told that they're not giving Blue Chip Stamps. So there you are left holding your half-filled stamp books... and you know the stamp people won't give you half a percolator or half a scatter rug, or whatever you're saving for. If your supermarket isn't giving Blue Chip Stamps anymore, remember this. Mayfair still is. Stamps you see don't cost very much but they are one of the best devices for saving for household items we know of. Let us help you fill those half-filled stampbooks with multiple stamps from Mayfair. Now that the chips are down, just remember: Mayfair is still chipping in. Now, more than ever...

...you get more than you bargain for including triple Blue Chip Stamps.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

May I interest you in baking a cake from scratch today? I have a terrific recipe that I've held onto for years and just recently got around to testing. It's for an old-fashioned spice cake, very tasty and really quite easy to mix and fix.

OLD FASHIONED SPICE CAKE

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 cup sugar
1-3 cup dark molasses
2 eggs, unbeaten
½ cup shortening
¾ cup milk

Sift together the two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, half teaspoon each salt and nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon each cinnamon, ginger and cloves.

Cream the half cup shortening with the cup sugar and two unbeaten eggs until light and fluffy. Blend in the third cup dark molasses. Fold in the sifted ingredients gradually with the three-fourths cup milk. Beat batter ½ minute and pour into two well-greased and floured 8-inch cake pans. Bake about 25 minutes in 375-degree oven. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pans. When cold, frost with 7-minute frosting made with brown sugar and flavored with ½ teaspoon cinnamon and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

SINCE WE ARE THINKING about baking, how about some cookies that combine chocolate bits, dates and nuts? Delish. And remember, those lunches you have to pack next week will need something good for dessert.

CHOCOLATE CHUNK COOKIES

¾ cup shortening
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
3 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup walnuts, chopped
½ cup dates, coarsely cut
1 package chocolate bits
1 cup oatmeal

Cream the three-fourths cup shortening with the three-fourths cup brown sugar and half cup granulated sugar. Add the three beaten eggs and teaspoon vanilla. Cream again.

Sift together the two and one-fourth cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder and fourth teaspoon salt. Add to creamed mixture.

Stir in the half-cup each walnuts, dates, the package of chocolate bits and the cup rolled oats.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in 350-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Yield: about five dozen.

A DISH WITH A GRAND NAME like Mulligan Stew would just have to be good wouldn't it?

MULLIGAN STEW

1 lb. ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
2 cups tomato juice
4 cups raw potatoes, peeled and cut in large cubes
1 tablespoon parsley
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Place a small amount on oil in a large frying pan. Add the pound of beef and cook until light brown. Add the fourth cup chopped onion and cook, stirring occasionally, until onion and meat are nicely browned.

Stir in the two cups tomato juice, four cups diced potatoes, one tablespoon parsley, one and one-half teaspoons salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Cover and simmer for 30 minutes.
Serves six nicely.

Deaths

Crash Kills Infant, Driver Is Charged

A one-month-old girl died Saturday night when the car in which she was a passenger hit two parked cars and a cement wall in Pacifica. The driver was arrested on charges of felony drunk driving and manslaughter.

Dead is Natalia Goumeni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Goumeni, of 451 Lewis Lane.

Booked by Pacifica police on charges of manslaughter with gross negligence and felony drunk driving was James Victor Keola, 67, of 449 Lewis Lane.

The infant's father and two other children, John Krippen, 6, and Tracy Krippen, 4, all of 451 Lewis, were treated at Mary's Help Hospital for minor injuries, but not admitted, according to Pacifica police.

Authorities said Keola was southbound on Lewis at 11:31 p.m. when his car hit two legally parked vehicles. The 1967 model car veered into the opposing lane of traffic and came to rest against a cement wall, police said, 36 feet north of Manor Drive.

Funeral Services Conducted For Mrs. Louine Bostwick

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Mrs. Louine Bostwick, former principal in the Jefferson Elementary School District, who retired last June after more than 40 years in education.

She died of a heart attack in a Redwood City hospital on September 26.

Mrs. Bostwick was honored at a retirement dinner in June of this year after more than 40 years in the field of education. She had taught in Nevada, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico before joining the school system of Daly City. She served as a supervisor of curriculum in the Jefferson Elementary Schools from 1952 to 1957. At this time she returned to the classroom, her real love. From 1957 to 1961 she was principal of Thornton and Vista Grand Elementary schools; principal of Olympia Elementary School from 1961 to 1964; and principal of the Daniel Webster Elementary School from 1964 to her retirement.

Mrs. Bostwick was born September 17, 1905 to Michael D. and Mary Edith (Mecham) Yeaman in Magrath, Alberta, Canada, while her parents were on a visit there. She married Stephan J. Paulson in Salt Lake City, Utah, March 22, 1924. Mr. Paulson died in 1932, six months before her youngest child was born. She married Charles Bostwick in Reno, Nevada, September 2, 1946. Mr. Bostwick died in 1952 while he and Mrs. Bostwick were touring Mexico City.

Mrs. Bostwick is survived by four sons, Daniel Joe Paulson and Jack Paulson both of Cupertino, California; Richard J. Paulson of Foster City, and Boyd Paulson of Phoenix, Arizona. Her oldest son Stephen J. Paulson died in May, 1966. Also surviving are two brothers, Ned Yeaman of Kemmerer, Wyoming and Jack Yeaman of Salt Lake City, Utah. Her parents, a brother William Yeaman and a sister Mrs. Harold (Maleta) Brimhall all preceded her in death. In addition she is survived by two step-daughters, Mrs. James (Dora Bostwick) Isaacsen and Mrs. Ruby (Bostwick) Holt both of Salt Lake City, Utah; and by twenty-one grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

JULIA PAGNI

Julia E. Pagni, 74, of 940 Hensley Avenue, San Bruno, died Wednesday at her home of an illness. She was born in Montana.

Surviving are a son, Thomas C. Pagni, of Millbrae, a stepdaughter, Vida DeBiasi, of Oakland; a brother, Italo Maffei, of San Francisco; two sisters, Theresa Maffei, of San Francisco, and Ann Borselli, of San Mateo, and two grandchildren.

Requiem mass was said on Friday at St. Bruno's Church. Rosary was Thursday. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery ,Colma.

LOUIS TOURNAHU

Louis Micheal Tournahu, 87, of 380 Mastick, San Bruno, died Thursday at Sheltering Pines Convalescent Home in Millbrae of a lengthy illness.

A native of France, he had lived in the county for 66 years. He was a building contractor.

Surviving are his wife, Anastasie, of San Bruno; a daughter, Mrs. Josephine Grisez, of Crows Landing; a brother, Pierre, of San Francisco; two sisters, Marie St. George, of Chicago, and Julienne Tournahu, of France; five grandchildren, including Yvonne Tournahu, of Belmont, and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 9 a.m. Monday at San Bruno Funeral Home, thence to St. Bruno's Catholic Church for requiem mass at 9:30 a.m. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

ANDREW GRANDONA

Andrew (Dutch) Grandona, 57, of 231 Cypress Avenue, South San Francisco, died Wednesday in South San Francisco.

Funeral services were conducted at 8:30 a.m., Monday, from the Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary, followed by a 9 a.m. mass at All Soul's Catholic Church.

Interment was in Italian Cemetery.

Employed by Skinner and Swift and Company, he was a native of South San Francisco and veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Grandona; sisters, Mrs. Mary Cerquettine and Mildred Ferrari, and brothers, Joseph and Anthony, all of South San Francisco.

THERESA M. FROMMER

Requiem mass was recited at 10:30 a.m. Monday from St. Bruno's Church, San Bruno, for Theresa M. Frommer, 45, 2301 Whitecliff Way, San Bruno, who died Thursday at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, after a long illness. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

New Tactics In Battle Over Menkin's Job

by BOB PETERSON

San Bruno City Manager Kit Menkin thinks he won a victory in the court decision denying a writ of mandate to remove him from his job. But the men who asked for the writ, San Bruno Planning Commissioner Victor Ogrey, is not downhearted.

Ogrey said he plans to give new support "with every breath in me" the recall movement against council members who voted to make Menkin the city manager.

Ron Carter, Menkin's attorney, said the filing of the writ of mandate petition in the first place was an act "of malice against Menkin."

He said the petition was politically motivated, as evidenced by the fact it was filed and served in the presence of the press, "and before the issue of reconsideration (of the appointment) was made before the city council."

Carter said also that he was studying the practicability of a malicious prosecution lawsuit against Ogrey on behalf of Menkin. The purpose would be to retrieve Menkin's out-of-pocket expenses. Basis of the suit would be an alleged attempt to keep Menkin from talking, Carter said.

Menkin, meanwhile, said he considers the outcome a victory. He said, "The most important thing is for me to continue to do my job. I hope to convince everyone that I am capable of doing my job."

The young city manager said he has nothing to hide, nor does he hold any resentments "for what may have been mistatements or misunderstandings."

As to a counter lawsuit against Ogrey, Menkin said he'd have to think that over. "I have a responsibility to become a peacemaker," said Menkin.

Ogrey, meanwhile, said he would welcome any reverse action by Menkin as this would give the opportunity for his lawyer to obtain depositions.

According to Ogrey, his major disappointment with the judge's decision was that it was made before depositions were obtained.

"These depositions would have uncovered information that would have proved Menkin falsified his qualifications and that there was some conspiracy in the appointment.

Two Quick Versions Of 'Old Fashioned' Bean Dishes

These quick bean dishes will easily become family favorites. Dry beans, along with broiler-fryers and canned peaches, are being spotlighted by the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service as the plentiful-foods-to-teature.

Marinated Tuna and Bean Salad uses an Italian Dressing. It's a delicious light dinner idea when served on crisp salad greens and garnished with tomato wedges and hard cooked egg.

Range-Top Baked Beans and Lima Beans in Tomato Sauce are tangy but quick versions of "old fashioned" bean favorites.

MARINATED TUNA AND BEAN SALAD

- 2½ cups cooked or canned red kidney, pinto or garbanzo beans
- 1 7-oz. can tuna, flaked
- 1-3 cup diced celery
- ½ cup red wine vinegar
- ½ teaspoon marjoram
- 1 teaspoon basil
- 1 tablespoon fresh parsley, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, pressed
- ½ cup olive oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper

Drain the can of kidney beans and place in mixing bowl. Add tuna and celery and mix. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over beans and tuna. Mix well and let stand in refrigerator at least 4 hours. Serve with tomato and hard cooked egg garnish on a bed of lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

RANGE-TOP BAKED BEANS

- 1¾ cups dry pea (navy) or Great Northern beans
- 4½ cups water
- ½ cup smoked shoulder, ham or salt pork pieces
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 small onion, chopped
- ½ cup brown sugar, packed
- ¾ cup catsup or barbecue sauce
- ¼ cup molasses
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- ½ teaspoon vinegar
- ½ teaspoon liquid smoke

Add water to beans; boil 2 minutes. Soak for 1 hour or overnight. Add meat and salt. Bring to boil. Cover and simmer until beans are tender; 1½ hours for navy beans, 1 to 1½ hours for Great Northern beans. Add a little water, if needed, during cooking. Do not stir. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer about 35 minutes until flavors are blended and beans are of desired consistency. Stir only as necessary to prevent sticking. Serves 6.

LIMA BEANS IN TOMATO SAUCE

- 3 slices bacon, finely chopped
- 4 cups dry baby lima beans, cooked, salted, drained (about 2 cups uncooked)
- 2 cups tomatoes, cooked or canned (16-oz. can)
- ¼ cup onion, chopped
- ¼ cup brown sugar, packed
- ¼ teaspoon chili powder
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- ½ teaspoon liquid smoke
- Few drops Tabasco

Fry chopped bacon; remove form pan. Put remaining ingredients into fat in pan; mix. Simmer for 25 minutes or until thickened. Sprinkle beans with bacon before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Here are some storage tips on dry beans from the Department of Agriculture.

Keep dry beans, peas, and lentils in the original package until opened. Once opened, store in tightly covered containers in a dry, cool place(50-70 degrees). Stored in this manner, they will keep their quality for several months.

After opening a package, don't mix the contents with that of other packages bought at separate times, particularly several months apart. Mixing packages will result in uneven cooking since older beans take longer to cook than fresher ones.

Gumbo Dish Inspired By Galveston

Because Texas is No. 1 in the production of shrimp and rice and produces many of the fine oysters enjoyed in the United States, it seemed appropriate to name a shrimp, rice, and oyster recipe in honor of a principal coastal city.

Gumbos traditionally contain okra and this one is no exception, but Galveston Gumbo also contains tomatoes; chicken broth; chopped onion, celery, and green pepper; plus a variety of seasonings. The shrimp, oysters, and okra are added to the simmering broth and cooked just long enough to tenderize and blend the flavors. Served over hot rice.

GALVESTON GUMBO

- 2 pounds raw shrimp, fresh or frozen
- 2 cans (10 ounces each) frozen oysters, undrained
- 1½ cups chopped onion
- 1½ cups sliced celery
- 1 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 1-3 cup cooking oil
- 1-3 cup flour
- 1 can (1 pound, 12 ounces) tomatoes, undrained
- 1 can (13¾ ounces) chicken broth
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2½ teaspoons salt
- teaspoon pepper
- 2 to 3 dashes liquid hot pepper sauce
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced okra, partially thawed and broken apart.
- 6 or 8 servings hot cooked seasoned rice

Thaw frozen shrimp. Peel, devein, and wash shrimp. Thaw oysters. Cook onion, celery, green pepper, and garlic in oil in large Dutch oven until tender. Blend in flour. Add tomatoes, chicken broth, Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper, and bay leaf; mix and heat. Add liquid hot pepper sauce; cover, simmer gently 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Uncover. Add shrimp, oysters, and okra; simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until shrimp and okra are tender and mixture is consistency desired. Serve over hot rice. Makes 9 cups, 6 to 8 servings.

Pineapple, Almond Mix For Dessert

The name, Almond-Pineapple Whip, tells you a lot about this dessert, but you'll have to taste it to know how delicious it is.

A layer of pineapple tidbits is topped with an airy, pineapple-flavored gelatin mixture containing crunchy roasted almond slivers. It's delightful "as is," but a custard sauce or whipped cream adds party-fare glamour.

ALMOND-PINEAPPLE WHIP

- 1 can (13½ oz.) pineapple tidbits
- 2 envelopes plain gelatin
- ½ cup cold water
- ¾ cup sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups boiling water
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- ½ cup slivered almonds, roasted
- Custard sauce or whipped cream

Drain pineapple, saving syrup. Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve gelatin, sugar and salt in boiling water. Blend in pineapple syrup and lemon juice; chill until mixture thickens. Whip until fluffy. Add almonds. Place pineapple in bottom of 8-inch square pan; cover with gelatin mixture. Chill until firm. To serve, cut into squares; lift out with spatula. Serve with custard sauce or whipped cream, if you like.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Selecting Fresh Pears

Shopping for fresh California Bartlett pears can be easy. The skin color of pears in the market may vary from green to bright yellow. If possible, select yellow pears that yield to gentle pressure in the palms of your hands if they are to be eaten within 1 or 2 days.

Greenskinned Bartletts are mature but will become more fully-flavored and juicy after they have turned yellow. Store green-skinned pears in a loosely closed paper bag at room temperature.

If you prefer to eat pears chilled, refrigerate the fruit after it is golden-ripe.

Delectable New Guises For A Favorite Old Standby — Applesauce

If you've mastered the "art" of cake-making with always reliable modern cake mixes, then you're ready for innovations. This recipe for Baby Apple Babas, made from a mix, will add to your repertoire of inexpensive yet imaginative cake desserts.

First, for delightful new flavor, use canned applesauce in place of the liquid called for on your favorite package of yellow cake mix. The sauce blends beautifully, adding subtle fruit goodness — and it helps keep the cake moist, too.

Then to make the cakes individually attractive, bake the batter in paper drink cups — the kind you use for hot drinks. Or make even smaller babas by baking the batter in muffin tins.

Finally to glaze and soak the cakes, make an exotically flavored syrup using apple juice, lemon juice and rum flavoring. Zip it up with slivers of orange peel and soak the cakes while they and the sauce are still warm. Save a little for an extra topping when the cakes are served. Garnish each with a fluff of whipped cream, if desired.

BABY APPLE BABAS

- 1 package yellow cake mix
- Canned Applesauce
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 cup apple juice
- 3 tablespoons orange peel, cut in slivers
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon rum flavoring

To make Babas, prepare cake mix according to package directions, substituting canned apple sauce for water or milk called for. Spoon the batter into 10 well greased paper hot drink cups. Place on baking sheet. Bake in 375-degree F. oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Cool 5 minutes. Tip cakes out of paper cups. While still warm, drizzle over each cake 1 teaspoon sauce. Chill. Serve with remaining sauce and whipped cream, if desired.

To make sauce, combine sugar, apple juice, orange peel and lemon juice in small saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat 7 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in flavoring. Use hot or cold. Makes 1 cups.

Here are some additional suggestions for apple sauce dishes:

APPLE AMBROSIA

To two cups canned apple sauce in a bowl, add one banana cut in slices, several pitted fresh red cherries, segments of two seedless orange, a peach that's been pared and sliced (and any other fresh fruits you may have on hand). Sprinkle with a little sugar, juice of a lemon and a little of the rind, grated. Chill thoroughly, and just before serving top with a drift of shredded coconut.

SAUCY APPLE DUMPLINGS

Make a topofthe range hot fruit dumpling dessert the easy way with canned apple sauce and left-over cake. In a two- or three-quart casserole of baking dish that is heat proof, simmer two cups canned apple sauce. Season with a sprinkle of nutmeg and a couple slices of lemon. Add a nugget of butter. Just before serving, toss in pieces of cake, cut in fairly large (about 2-inch) squares. Plan about two per person. Serve in dessert dishes with a small scoop of ice cream as a topping.

APPLE HAM BREAKFAST CASSEROLE

Arrange slices of ham or pork (left over from dinner) in a shallow oven-proof baking dish. Add a dash of dry mustard, a tablespoon or so of brown sugar and a cup of canned apple sauce. Heat in a slow oven to bubbling. Makes a wonderful accompaniment to scrambled eggs, pancakes or French toast. The same approach also can be used to make a fine and easy supper dish.

Pork, Apples Combine In Fall Menus

Pork and apples are a popular combination for crisp fall days. Now is also a good time to use pork, fresh apples, canned applesauce and apple juice since they are being spotlighted by the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Try savory Apple Topped Pork or a tangy version of Pork Steaks with Apple Kraut.

APPLE TOPPED PORK

- 6 pork chops or steaks
- Salt and pepper
- 2 cups sliced apples
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 6 thin onion slices
- ½ cup dark corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1-third cup apple juice

Brown pork in skillet, transfer to shallow baking pan and season with salt and pepper. Add butter to skillet and saute apple slices until slightly tender. Place an onion slice on top of each chop or steak. Cover pork with sauteed apple slices. Cover and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Combine remaining ingredients and bring to a boil; simmer 2 minutes. Pour over pork and apples; cover and bake another 15 minutes or until done. Make 6 servings.

Six -inch thick slices of Canadian-style bacon or smoked pork shoulder roll can be used in place of the chops or steaks. Omit the browning in skillet.

PORK STEAKS AND APPLE KRAUT

- 4 pork shoulder steaks
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon mustard
- 1 tablespoon horseradish
- 1 1-lb. 13-oz. can sauerkraut
- 2 medium apples, chopped
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon caraway seeds

Brown steaks in fat; pour off drippings. Season steaks with salt and pepper. Combine mustard and horseradish and spread over steaks Combine sauerkraut, apples, onion and caraway seeds. Place steaks in a shallow baking pan in a single layer. Top with sauerkraut mixture. Cover tightly and bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Uncover and continue baking 30 minutes. Serves 4.

Cling Peach Garnish For Flank Steak

Flank steak and cling peach halves star in dinner menus any time of the year Use your barbecue to add the special touch of charcoal flavor to the broiled meat. The peach halves can be heated, too, in a pan over the coals while the meat is cooking. The flavorful, economical entree also can be prepared in the kitchen.

PEACH-OF-A-FLANK-STEAK

- 1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) cling peach halves
- 1 cup chili sauce
- ½ cup vinegar
- ¼ cup Worcestershire
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 beef bouillon cubes
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 flank steak (2 pounds)
- Parsley sprigs

Drain peaches, saving syrup. Combine in saucepan syrup, chili sauce, vinegar, Worcestershire, garlic, bouillon cubes and butter; simmer 10 minues. Score steak if desired; place with peaches in large dish or casserole. Cover with chili mixture. Marinate overnight. Transfer steak to greased, preheated pan; heat marinade in saucepan. Broil steak 5 to 8 minutes 2 inches from heat, basting twice with marinade. Turn steak. Add peaches cupsides up to pan; broil 5 to 8 minutes longer, basting meat and peaches twice with marinade. Arrange steak and peaches on serving platter; garnish with parsley. Slice steak diagonally. Serve remaining warm marinade in bowl.

Makes 7 to 8 servings.

Problems Of Teen Diets

In the active world of teenagers adequate diets often are forgotten. Six out of 10 teenage girls and four out of 10 teenage boys have poor diets because of their eating habits. Among the reasons for these improper diets are: skipping breakfast, eating nutritionally poor snacks, believing that eating makes one fat and considering outside activities more important than eating.

Single Campus For San Mateo J. C. Is Predicted

The business manager of the San Mateo Junior College District Matt V. Fasanaro, acknowledged on Friday that, in his opinion, the anticipated level of 1971-72 financing will force a fallback to a single campus.

Fasanaro, with the district nine years, pointed to a cycle of staff, student and state funding cuts that, he said, would require the district to maintain an enrollment at about the same level it had when College of San Mateo was its only facility.

He said it "would not be economical to operate more than one school" with the type of financial deficit the district faces as a result of the public's defeat of a tax rate increase proposal last month.

This denial at the polls of funds — the district wanted a level of 61 cents on $100 of assessed valuation — returns the rate back to a depression era sum of 35 cents. The district in recent years has operated on 47 cents, but state legislation reverts that to the rate of the 1930's Fasanaro explained.

The "logical solution" to this situation, he envisions, is "one college." He didn't say which, as he declared, "We never envisioned that we'd operate three colleges with the resources of one."

He said he feared the prospect of operating a big school at one location, because of the potential for the type of student unrest that has been missing — for the most part — at the district's three campuses.

"Student unrest is associated with big campuses," Fasanaro sighed.

Nonetheless, he'd still rather see one overcrowded campus than three "sick ones."

"It's no threat," Fasanaro said of his opinion. "It's a practical ramification based on money available."

What would happen to two new, prettily landscaped and architecturally impressive campuses?

Fasanaro mentioned that a group he called the "35 cents committee" has mentioned leasing the facilities; perhaps to an educational institution such as San Francisco State College.

The SMJC business manager has been working as a "resource person" with this committee of faculty members, and others, to determine the outcome of maintaining the present facilities, heexplained.

Fasanaro, who dropped the first indication of drastic cutbacks on September 23, viewing the schools to be in a severe financial trauma, predicted his analysis initially on a belief teacher-student contacts should not decrease.

To decrease those contacts— the teacher to student ratio — "the performance of the individual student will fall," Fasanaro explained.

He said he was not talking about high achiever, who would succeed anyway, but of the average achiever "who can't be fed education on a high-power basis."

Most of the district's students, he believes, come from working families, and he must work themselves.

Fasanaro recognizes that the taxpayers "is the boss," but he wants to be "sure it's what he wants us to do," — referring to the rollbacks he predicts will be necessary unless public approval of funding is obtained ultimately.

WINS STAMPS

In a recent contest where-by a 1971 Datsun 1200 sedan was jacked up and running at 35 m.p.h., Daly City Datsun-Volvo offered 25,000 Blue Chip Stamps to anyone guessing the number of miles on the speedometer after 10.6 gallons of gas were used.

Emmett Bush of Daly City guessed 866 miles. The 1200 ran 864 miles, so Bush was given a consolation prize of 15,000 stamps.

Dispute In Cause Of Two Deaths

A dispute between the San Mateo County Coroner's Office and Pacifica police over how a young Pacifica divorcee and her next door neighbor — father of three — met their deaths Monday night in the woman's bedroom came to light last week.

Pacifica police have "officially" called the slayings of Joyce Strach and 41-year-old William Coggins as a murder-suicide perpetrated by Goggins with a 38 caliber revolver.

But County Coroner Paul B. Jensen said he hasn't made up his mind one way or the other on how the pair met their deaths shortly after 7:30 p.m. in the bedroom of the Strach home at 1159 Cervantes Street, Pacifica.

To complicate the matter even more, the North County District Attorney's Office said they have not received any official communications from either the Coroner's office or Pacifica police on the matter.

Detectives working on the case found the 38 caliber snub-nosed revolver in the bedroom.

Mrs. Strach had been shot five times — a bullet in both breasts, left wrist, right elbow and neck.

One slug nicked the victim's heart and another severed a main artery leading to the heart, the Coroner said.

Goggins was shot in the back section of the head from the same gun.

Police found Goggins atop the woman who was clad only in her underwear.

According to investigators the couple had been "seeing" each other for about a year.

Goggins, a National Guard master sergeant assigned to the Nike Missile site at Milagra Canyon, was a frequent visitor to the Strach home, police said.

North County Murphy Drive Leaders Told

James V. Grealish, north San Mateo County chairman for the reelection of Senator Murphy, announced the chairmen in charge of the campaign in individual cities.

Serving as Daly City chairman will be Jim Sargen. Pacifica chairman is Herb Bradford; South San Francisco, Michael Handlin; San Bruno, Neil Christal; Brisbane, Bob McLennan.

Supervisorial district coordinators will be John Penna in the First District and Frank Spadarella in the Fifth District.

City chairmen and committee members are presently selling tickets for the October 16 fund-raising reception honoring the senator at the Fagan Estate in Hillsborough, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adair.

Joining the senator for the evening will be Cyd Charisse, Tony Martin and Rory Calhoun.

SWISS SING

The Swiss Singing Society of San Francisco will hold its annual fall concert at 8 p.m., October 10, at the California Banquet Hall, Polk and Turk streets, San Francisco.

Bruno Dispute On Union Deductions

That hassle in San Bruno as to whether the city will take the effort to deduct union dues on paychecks of so-called miscellaneous employes remains an argumentative point.

Union Representative Phil Murphy was told late last week that the mechanics involved would cost the union $40 a month, or as high as $520 a year.

At the last council meeting there seemed to be tentative agreement between Murphy and councilmen that if the deductions could be made at reasonable costs the union would gladly pick up the cost.

Asked whether he would accept the findings, Murphy said, "Of course not. It is ridiculous. This is becoming a major issue and something has to be done."

Murphy contends he was to have been notified and been involved in the survey to determine whether the additional bookkeeping item could be handled without too much difficulty on the city's present machine. He said he wasn't.

"I heard about this proposal after the investigation was completed," he said. "I am no bookkeeper. But I am a man of average intelligence. I can spot a phony when I see one. We have one here."

Murphy explained that he attempted on several occasions to obtain a thorough explanation as to why it would cost so much and kept receiving an ambiguous "This is the best estimate" answer.

"You have been asked to extend a courtesy," said Murphy, adding that he felt the action of the city was meant as a meaningful gesture "in hopes that the union will go away."

Murphy said that if need be he, or a representative he would appoint, would personally come to city hall on the day the checks were made out and do the physical posting required to include the deductions.

Mayor Neil Christal interjected that if Murphy was willing to do this why not take the same time to go around and collect from each individual member.

Councilmen George Corey and Maurice Hamilton, however, sided with Murphy. They said that if he wasn't given the opportunity to review the mechanics of the operation he should be offered that chance.

The matter was then referred back to the staff. And if they and Murphy can reach an agreement suitable to both parties, the councilmen said the only further thing they want to hear about it is the cost figure.
